THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXVI. ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1893. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

HE WAS INDISPOSED.

Mr. Cleveland Spent the Day at His Country Place,

AND DISAPPOINTED CONGRESSMEN

Tales of Woe Poured Into Mr. Thurber's Ears.

COLONEL GRAVES AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Postmaster General Bissell Will Take Him Today in a Cabinet Carriage to See the President—Capital Gossip.

Washington, June 15.—(Special.)—President Cleveland did not show up at the white house today, and it was given out that Mrs. Cleveland was ill, and that he remained at home to read to her. At any rate, a good many hungry office seekers languished about the white house all the morning, waiting for interviews which never came. Among those who called were Representatives Moses and Cabaniss. They went in the interest of Paul Trammell. They will call again tomorrow and try to settle up matters. The appointment may be expected, now, at any date, possibly Saturday. The papers in the case will be sent up tomorrow, and then the battle royal will begin.

The truth was, the president was slightly indisposed, and decided to take a day's rest. Secretary Lamont went out there early in the morning, and remained with the president some time. As a consequence of the president's absence from the executive mansion, no appointments were announced. Those senators and congressmen who climbed the stairs only to find the president away poured the subject of their errand into the ear of Private Secretary Thurber, unaware of the fact that he, too, would leave the city this evening, probably without even seeing the president, for a ten-days' sojourn with his family in Michigan.

More Trouble in Samoa.

Secretary Gresham has got another diplomatic muddle on his hands. Now it is on the Samoan islands. He has received advices that war is imminent there and that a rebellion has broken out against the existing government, of which King Malieao is the head. Comparative silence reigned on the island while the defeated monarch, Mataafe, was kept out of his kingdom. It appears now he has returned to Samoa for the purpose of regaining his kingdom. All his old adherents and many recruits have rallied under his standard and have begun operations against the powers that be. His following is strong and a meeting is probable. The situation has reached a critical point and the president and secretary have frequent conferences as to the policy of this government in the matter. The United States is pledged to assist in preserving the autonomy of the islands, but at present is hardly in a position to do very much in that direction. The only naval vessels anywhere near Samoa are the Boston and Adams, at Hawaii, and there is no means of communicating with them except by a steamer from San Francisco, and even if that could be accoplished it would take at least five days to make a trip to Samoa from Honolulu. Germany is the only member of the alliance represented at the islands by a warship, but with the cooperation of the representatives and citizens of the other governments that vessel will be sufficient to afford ample protection to foreign interests on the island, even if it is not capable of entirely suppressing the rebellion.

Good Prospect for Milledgeville.

Representative Cabaniss had a busy day of it. He called at the state department and had an interview with Mr. Gresham in the interest of Professor George, of Macon. The professor has not relinquished hopes of landing at Rehl, Germany, as consul, and while Mr. Gresham will be not especially encouraging, he said nothing which might throw a damper on the congressman. He has an engagement to call on Mr. Quincy tomorrow. He also had an interview with Mr. Bissell today, but not about the Macon postoffice. Mr. Cabaniss said that will not come up for some time. He is very busy pushing C. M. Wright for the Milledgeville postoffice. He said tonight that he thought Wright would be appointed. One thing is certain, Wilson will not last much longer and Bissell has said that the office would be filled very soon with a democrat.

In a Cabinet Carriage.

Colonel John Temple Graves called at the white house today, but did not find the president at home. Tomorrow he will call again. Postmaster General Bissell thinks that Colonel Graves ought to have whatever he wants, and has invited him to call with him in his cabinet carriage on the president after hours. Colonel Graves and Mr. Bissell have struck up an old-time friendship, and his call with the postmaster general may be conducive to something of special importance to the Atlanta man.

Olney Will Not Speak.

Attorney General Olney, who with Speaker Crisp, was invited to deliver the "long talk" at Tammany hall, on July 4th, has written a letter regretting his inability to do so. Mr. Olney will be in Boston on that day in pursuance of a business engagement made a month or so ago.

Carolinians After Office.

The fight for the district attorneyship in South Carolina has narrowed down to ex-Congressman George W. Dargan and W. Perry Murphy, of Waterboro. They are both conservatives, and the fight will be to the finish. Mr. Cleveland is said to favor Dargan, on the recommendation of Judge Hugh Thompson, now of New York. The appointment will be made within the next week.

Commissioner Lochren's Good Work.

The question of reorganizing the boards of pension examiners throughout the country is just now under consideration by Commissioner Lochren. There are 1,260 of these boards, each containing three members, and their work is a very important factor in the administration of the pension laws and in the adjudication of claims. Officials of the department state that careful of these boards and in some instances the examinations have revealed incompetence and gross carelessness in the work of some evidence indicates that improper influences have been successfully applied to secure decisions in pension claims favorable to the applicants. In view of these facts, it has been decided to give this branch of the service a general overhauling. While no formal plan of reorganization has been announced, it is the stated purpose of Commissioner Lochren to appoint on the boards only men who stand in the very front rank of the people in their respective localities and men who keep well abreast of the times in medical science. Another inflexible condition to appointment will be that of unquestioned integrity. The politics of applicants will not be made of much importance, although all other things being equal, democrats undoubtedly will be given the preference. Another official, in speaking of the matter, said today that recommendation by men of known character in the medical profession would be more efficacious in securing an appointment on pension boards than if made by politicians. The active work of reorganization will soon be begun.

A Candidate for Doorkeeper.

E. B. Smith, a native of Georgia and former resident of Newnan and Brunswick, but now hailing from Texas, has announced himself as a candidate for doorkeeper of the house. He is backed by several Georgia congressmen and he will prove a formidable candidate against any one. The present doorkeeper is ex-Congressman Turner, of New York. Smith is the correspondent of The Fort Worth Gazette and is connected with the Washington Post.

Colonel Dick Will Be Missed.

Colonel Dick Wintersmith, of Kentucky, is the most noted wit and raconteur who has been about Washington since the death of the famous Jack Wharton, of Maryland and Louisiana. He is a tall, portly man with gray hair and a rubicond complexion. Like most good Kentuckians, he is a democrat. Also like most good Kentuckians, he came to the conclusion that he wants an office. He didn't care for a big office. Just a nice little one with a comfortable stipend and few duties, and those not of the onerous order, was about what Colonel Dick thought would suit him. He glanced over the bluebook of the treasury department and found an agency up in Alaska, which he thought was about his size and made application for it. He did not get it. However, Secretary Carlisle could not freeze his old friend out altogether, and as he could not send him to the arctic regions, he sent him to the tropics, appointing him to a treasury agency at Colon, Panama.

When Secretary Carlisle told Colonel Wintersmith where he had landed him the colonel's only comment was:

"So you thought I would make a better roast than frappe."

A Clean Sweep.

Representative George William Cooper, of the fifth Indiana district, is entitled to the championship emblem, whatever it may be, for obtaining changes in postoffices. Mr. Cooper is a democrat of the Jackson-Marcy school. Postoffices are a part of the plunder of politics in his estimation. In his district there are just 192 postoffices. He has effected changes in all of them excepting nine. These are supposed to be four-dollar a year offices that nobody but the incumbent will have.

The Black List Ignored.

Three "flat-footed" conservatives of South Carolina were landed today. E. M. Rucker, of Columbia, a cousin of Colonel Tinney [illegible] fraternity, was put in the law department [illegible] of $2,000. This appointment has not its special significance, but the other two [illegible] and show pretty clearly how the wind is shifting. D. B. Darby was made postmaster at Walhatta and Mc. N. Turner at Ninety-Six. They were both blacklisted by Governor Tillman. They were the choice of Mr. Bissell, and in view of the heated dispute of the factions before the postmaster general it shows conclusively that the cabinet officers have no idea of paying any attention to the Tillman and Irby blacklist. There are no more active members of the conservative faction in the state than the two new postmasters.

One for Emmett Womack.

John T. Oglesby, of Henry county, was promised yesterday the position of receiver of freights for an Indian agency at a salary of $1,200. Emmett Womack was given a law clerkship yesterday at a salary of $2,200 a years. This is a pleasing appointment to many Georgians. Womack will assume his duties on July 1st.

George G. Davis, of Thomaston, was given an assistant messenger's place under Assistant Attorney General Hall. Samuel L. Chiles, of Jones county, secured today a place as assistant messenger in the interior.

Officers of the House.

Most of the officers of the house will be re-elected, but there are signs that a determined effort will be made to get the doorkeeper away from ex-Congressman Turner, Tammany's representative

This office has more patronage than all of the rest of the positions of the house put together. It was this office that Fitzhugh, of Texas, held when he wrote the famous letter which contained the phrase, "I am a bigger man than old Grant."

When Tammany concluded to retire that somewhat amusing statesman, "Iceman" Turner, the bosses decided to take care of him by having him made doorkeeper of the house. He has not given entire satisfaction.

Ex-Congressman Kerr, of Pennsylvania, will no doubt be re-elected clerk. This is the position to which Senator Gibson aspired before his elevation to the senate.

The postmaster, Lycurgus Dalton, one of the smoothest politicians in Indiana, will be re-elected.

There will be a new sergeant-at-arms, ex-Congressman Yoder, of Ohio, having fallen into disfavor. Samuel E. Johnson, correspondent of The Cincinnati Enquirer, is a candidate for the post and will get it. Sam is popular with the newspaper men and statesmen alike.

Of course, when the house is organized by the speaker, the real work will begin. The monetary and tariff questions will be the most important and cause the first lightning. Then general sentiment is growing here that if there is a demand for the repeal of the Sherman purchasing act, substitute legislation of a pacificatory nature will be given.

General Washington News.

The department of state has not been informed of the proposed purpose of China to retaliate upon the United States by prohibiting the purchase or sale of American kerosene in the province of Amoy. Even if there has been such a prohibition it is not believed all reports can be believed as a measure adopted in a spirit of retaliation, but rather as an exhibition of an extremely conservative character of the Chinese, whose resistance to such innovations as the use of kerosene may have been strengthened by some recent casualties.

Officials at the state department are of the opinion that the argument of counsel before the Behring sea arbitration will be concluded within the next ten days, and that, with the exception of Secretary Foster, all the officers connected with the preparation and presentation of the American case will then return to the United States. It is also expected that the decision of the arbitrators will be announced by the 1st of August. Arbitrators Harlan and Morgan and General Agent Foster will remain in Paris until the arbitration is concluded. The approaching return of the other members accounts for the rumor that Major Halford will be relieved from further duty when the tribunal ends and ordered to regular pay duty in the army. Major Halford is acting under orders of the secretary of state and when relieved of his special duties is to take quarters at St. Paul, Minn. Such were original orders, and they have not been changed in any respect. Secretary Gresham has announced that he will make no change in their personnel of the American representation at Paris pending the consideration of the issues.

Mr. R. J. Winne, ex-Secretary Foster's private secretary, has received a letter from Mr. Foster, which has caused his friends in this city considerable satisfaction. He says: "I begin to see that not an unkind word has been said about me to any one. I hope to get on my feet again. I have nearly a hundred offers of money from people whom I have befriended in the past and I begin to think there is such a thing as gratitude."

TO AVOID A PANIC.

New York's Clearing House Association Takes a Timely Step.

SOLVENT BANKS CAN GET HELP.

Certificates Will Be Issued to Sound Institutions.

AN EXAMPLE TO BE FOLLOWED.

Business Men in the Metropolis Feel That the Situation Will Be Eased—Bankers Can Take Care of Themselves.

New York, June 15.—(Special.)—The business men of this city are much elated over the action of the managers of the banks belonging to the clearing house. The very serious aspect that the financial and commercial situation has assumed, has led to the necessity of some combined action on the part of the New York banks. Similar action has been taken before in times of panic.

It practically takes the form of an issue of clearing house certificates to those banks which, while perfectly solvent, have their funds tied up in time loans and are pressed for ready cash. No certificates are issued except to those banks known to be in good condition, and only then upon securities whose value has been carefully passed upon by the clearing house committee. These certificates pass as current funds between the banks, and can thus be used in the settlement of balances, relieving the banks that may have a large debit balance in the clearing house from settling in cash. As the bank's paper is paid off and the general situation improves the banks are required to take up their certificates as quickly as possible.

Millions Shipped West.

The present action of the New York banks is only to prepare for a possible emergency. The crisis prevailing in the west, which has brought about so many bank and business failures, has also produced a generally unsettled feeling in that section. In consequence, there has been a general and heavy withdrawal of deposits by the western banks from their New York correspondents. It is estimated that no less than $16,000,000 in currency has been shipped from here, chiefly to Chicago and other western cities since June 5th. The strain has fallen heavily upon the New York banks, and following the heavy gold exports, has made money very scarce and contracted credit. By the issue of clearing house certificates, which practically make the associated banks act as a unit, a great deal of relief is given to the situation, and a further extension of credit is made possible.

Should Be Imitated.

This action of the New York banks will only relieve the pressure in this city. Why cannot the banks where clearing houses have been organized and are working well, do the same thing? If it is necessary to do it here there is more necessity to do it in the south.

Mr. Henry Clews, who is well up in financial matters, has issued to the press the following:

"The bank clearing house association's action today, in passing a resolution authorizing the issuing of clearing house certificates without limit, was a necessary, justifiable and praiseworthy step, and should be followed by all the other bank clearing house associations everywhere in the country as an effort to restore confidence and to remove the deep seated distrust prevailing everywhere, from one end of the nation to the other, and it goes to prove that the banking interests have the means to take care of themselves as well as their customers when driven into a corner."

It is a good thing for the Atlanta clearing house to consider at once, and if they are not familiar with its workings let them wire to bankers here for further instructions. Mr. J. Edward Simmons, president of the Fourth National bank, says it averted a panic in this country when the Baring Brothers were in bankruptcy. He also says it is perfectly safe and feasible for banks in other places where they have a clearing house. EVAN P. HOWELL.

Drained by the West.

Speaking of the monetary stringency and the shipment of large amounts of currency, particularly to the west and northwest, the president of one of the largest banks said to a reporter that the demand from country banks for re-discounts was larger at the present that at any time in his experience, and particularly from banks in the west and northwest. The demand was general and extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It set in nearly three months ago, and had gradually increased until it had assumed its present large proportions. As, however, the banks which had taken discounts this week, were sending their short time paper maturing in a month or six weeks, that was regarded as an indication that the country bankers did not expect the demand to last much longer and it was therefore thought that it had reached its height. The demand from the southwest was not unusually large, it being about the same as the normal demand of previous years. The present stringency will cease when the cause of it is removed. He meant when the people are assured that the Sherman silver purchase law will be repealed. Until that is done confidence will not be restored.

A Georgia Banker's Views.

This bank president's views of the situation in the southwest is confirmed by the president of one of the largest banks in Georgia, now in this city, and with whom a reporter talked today.

Besides being president of a large national bank, he is also a member of a large private banking house and a prominent member of the State Banking association.

"The banks of Georgia, and of the south, generally," he said, "are in good shape and the same may be said of the whole country. We had our trouble in the south, you know, about two or three years ago and have got over it now. Our cotton crop looks fine and the prospects for it are very good. Money is close, of course, in the south, as elsewhere in the country at large, but we do not regard this situation down there as at all alarming. There is not much of last year's cotton to come forward. What is left of last year's crop is held mainly by rich men."

Paying Off Depositors.

New York, June 15.—About one hundred and fifty depositors awaited the opening of the Irving Savings institution this morning. Secretary Latimer pushed through the line with a bag containing $40,000 in small bills, which were heaped up beside stacks of big bills and the payments began. Fifteen thousand dollars were withdrawn the first hour. The heavy depositors are not touching their money.

The run on Irving's Savings institution stopped at 11 o'clock this morning; $300,000 had been drawn out. All depositors were paid promptly and in full. The run eased off this afternoon and it is believed it is ended.

Bank Failure in Ohio.

Weston, O., June 15.—The Exchange Banking Company, of this place, has closed its doors. The bank had a run and was unable to get help. The directors have notified the depositors that they will probably receive dollar for dollar.

A Kansas Bank Suspends.

Arkansas, City, Kas., June 15.—(Special)—The First National bank, of this city, one of the oldest and generally believed to be one of the strongest financial institutions in the southwest, failed to open its doors this morning. The deposits are said to be $600,000.

PRESCOTT RE-ELECTED

President of the International Typographical Union.

Chicago, June 15.—The convention of the International Typographical Union today was largely occupied considering in executive session the means to be employed for waging a successful warfare against the "Printers' Protective Fraternity," which was represented as having for its object the destruction of unionism. The Childs-Drexel home troubles were also taken up in executive session.

Later the election of officers was proceeded with. For president, there were three nominations—the present incumbent, W. B. Prescott; John L. Kennedy, of Washington, D. C., and William Boyer. A ballot resulted: Prescott, 115; Kennedy, 60; Boyer, 41. Prescott was thus elected to his third term.

EDITORS INDORSED JUDGE BELL.

To Get Special Rates There Should Be Genuine Subscribers.

Nashville, Tenn., June 15.—(Special.)—At today's session of the Tennessee Press Association, Judge James T. Bell was unanimously endorsed for public printer.

A resolution was adopted expressing opposition to the mailing of advertising publications, without bona fide subscribers, at newspaper rates. R. E. Folk, chief clerk of the last house, read an interesting paper on the work of the legislature. Money was raised by subscription for a watch to be presented to Secretary Pitkin C. Wright.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Louis J. Brooks, Jackson; vice presidents, W. H. Griffin, Union City; D. F. Wallace, McMinneville; James F. Rule, Knoxville; secretary, P. C. Wright, Memphis; treasurer, R. J. Miller, Nashville; poet, C. H. Slack, Bristol; statistician, W. J. Slatter, Winchester

Congressman Washington gave a reception this evening, and, later, there was a banquet at the Nicholson. The association leaves for Chicago tomorrow morning.

AFRAID OF TAXES.

Insurance Companies Withdrawing from Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., June 15.—(Special.)—A most important meeting of insurance men representing every company doing business in Tennessee will be held in Nashville, June 26th, and upon the result much depends. The question to be decided is whether the companies will comply with the state law or withdraw from the state. Chapter 122 of the acts of 1891 provides that each and every corporation created or organized under or by virtue of any government other than that of this state for any purpose whatever, desiring to own property or carry on business in this state of any kind or character, shall first file in the office of the secretary of the state a copy of its charter and cause an abstract of the same to be recorded in the office of the register in each county in which such corporation desires to carry on its business. The insurance companies fear that if they complied with this law they would become domesticated and be liable for a tax of 1 1-2 per cent on their capital stock, as section 4 of the same act provides that when a corporation complies with the provisions of this act, it shall then be to all intents and purposes a domestic corporation and may sue and be sued in the courts of this state and be subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state just as though it were created under the law of this state. The supreme court has recently held that this law is constitutional and the secretary of state, Morgan, is sending out circulars to the various companies doing business in Tennessee state, asking that they comply with the law by July 1st. The insurance companies now pay into the state treasury $200,000 a year. Several companies have already withdrawn from the state and others will undoubtedly follow. Local insurance men today sent out circulars to all the companies doing business in the state requestng them to send representatives to this meeting with authority to act.

RALEIGH NEWS.

Three Southern Synods Arrange to Unite in Their Work.

Raleigh, N. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Today the Missouri, Tennessee and Ohio Lutheran Synods, of the Lutheran church, met at Newton, N. C., and made arrangements for uniting and co-operating in their work. This state is interested in this work, the Lutherans being quite strong in the Piedmont section.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

Burning of Large Fruit Sheds and Wharves at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., June 15.—This afternoon one produce shed, one fruit shed, of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, one fruit shed of the Illinois Central, fruit shed and the wharves in front of them and upon which these stood, and 7,000,000 feet of lumber were destroyed by fire. The Louisville and Nashville shed was full of fruit. The loss upon the fruit alone will be $20,000. The loss of the railroad companies will approximate $60,000, making the total loss exceed $80,000.

THREATENED TO BLOW IT UP.

Excited Depositors in a Bank Threaten to Use Dynamite.

Anderson, Ind., June 15.—The Farmers and Merchants' State bank at Fairmount, Grant county, just north of here, closed its doors yesterday. Quite a crowd of farmers rushed for the bank and threatened to use dynamite under it. Alpheus Hindley, James Winslow and Levi Scott are the officers of the bank. It had a paid up capital of $50,000, with a surplus of $5,000 at the last report.

The Wall Fell.

Pittsburg, June 15.—A section of the west wall of the old postoffice building, now in course of demolition, fell about 10:30 o'clock this morning, carrying with it a scaffold on which were four men. They were buried in the debris of brick and stone and were extricated with great difficulty. They were seriously injured but it is thought all will recover. They are James Garrow, Anthony Motell and E. O. Owens and one unknown. The building was recently sold to private parties.

To Abandon Its Club Features.

New York, June 15.—The New York Southern Society has decided to abandon the club features of its organization. It is now therefore, what its name indicates, a society pure and simple. "The form of the society," said a member, "will now be much like that of the New England and Ohio societies. The membership fell off somewhat when the club features were introduced. We believe it will now increase rapidly."

The Suit Against Chief Arthur.

Cleveland, O., June 15.—Judge Ricks, of the United States circuit court, has fixed the date of trial of the most important case on his docket. It is that brought against Chief P. M. Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, for $[illegible],000 damages for alleged encouragement of the recent strike on the Ann Arbor road at Toledo. A special assignment of the case has been made for Monday, September 18th. It will be heard at Toledo before a special jury. The case has provoked widespread discussion.

AD WASH.

FOR LIZZIE'S LIFE.

The State Through With Its Evidence in the Borden Murder Case

AND THE DEFENSE GOES TO WORK.

What They Expect to Prove by the Witnesses.

SEVERAL OF WHOM WERE ON THE STAND

What They Saw and Heard the Morning of the Murder—The Mysterious Stranger Lurking About.

New Bedford, Mass., June 15.—The tenth day of the Borden murder trial opened hot with a big crowd in attendance. Miss Borden was overwhelmed with floral offerings this morning and appeared in excellent spirits.

The first witness called was Charles Lawton, a New Bedford druggist of tenty years' standing, and he was followed by other druggists who were questioned as to the character and use of prussic acid. The defense vigorously contested every point of the government's testimony looking to the prisoner's attempt to purchase prussic acid.

Preliminary evidence was introduced under objections. Druggist Lawton testified that he knew of no other than medicinal purposes for which prussic acid was used and Daniel Hathaway, an analytical chemist, said it is unsuitable for cleaning furs and very hot, while Dr. White said its vapors are very powerful. Finally, after consultation, the justices announced that the preliminary evidence did not come up to the proffer by the prosecution and excluded the entire evidence of attempted purchases of prussic acid. After the introduction of exhibits the commonwealth rested its case and a recess of fifteen minutes was taken.

During the recess the prisoner talked earnestly with Mrs. Fessenden, of Boston, the first lady who has spoken to her in court.

After the recess Mr. Jennings opened the case for the defense. He said they would show the previous spotlessness of the prisoner's character and the absence of intent, purpose or opportunity. The prisoner sat with her face buried in her hands during the counsel's plea. After distinguishing circumstantial from direct evidence and illustrating the danger of circumstantial evidence he said every link in the government's chain of evidence must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt, excluding weapon, exclusive of opportunity and intent. The defense would show the relations between father and daughter, excluding the motive for killing him and for killing the mother alone would not be enough to say she killed both. He claimed that the weapon had not been connected with the deed. Exclusive opportunity would be negative by showing that other people were around at the time of the murder and others entered the barn before the officer, who testified that the floor was covered with dust and that the burned dress was covered with paint and was not worn on the day of the murder. On the subject of circumstantial evidence Mr. Jennings addressed the jury thus:

What Will be Proven.

"You are not to say how this mysterious murder was committed, but to say by whom. You are simply to answer as to the defendant; to say you are satisfied beyond a doubt that she is guilty or innocent and a reasonable doubt is a doubt for which you can furnish a good reason. I want to say that there is not one particle of direct testimony against Lizzie Borden to connect her with this crime; it is wholly circumstantial. It is not for you to unravel the mystery of how those people died, but to say whether this woman did the deed or not. Unless by the evidence you can tie this woman to the bodies of the murdered persons you must let her go free. We contend that with the evidence thus far produced there is no motive for the deed. You will find that a motive becomes of tremendous importance. The government contends who killed one killed the other and where they have assumed to show a motive for the killing of the stepmother there is none for the killing of her father. In measuring the motive you have to aplly it between this girl and her own father.

"The blood which was shown on the axes disappeared—the claw-headed hatchet has disappeared from the case. The attempt has been made here to surround this house; to completely shut it in, but we shall show you there were others about that house the day of the murder. We shall show you that the Medley's cake walk in the barn existed in his own imagination and that people were in the barn anl all over it before he went there. We shall show you that Lizzie was in the barn just as she says she was.

"We shall show you that this dress was soiled with paint gotten on it early in May; that it was burned in broad daylight when doors and windows were open. We shall show you that she had on the very dress she says she had on—the one I gave the officer myself. We shall ask you to see in view of the presumption of innocence, which the law says you shall consider; that no blood was found on her and to consider relations between father and daughter."

During the opening Miss Borden covered her tearful eyes with her handkerchief.

Martha Chagnon, a pleasant little French girl, was the first witness for the defense. She is a daughter of Dr. Chagnon, whose yard is in the rear of the Borden yard. On the night preceding the Borden murder, she said, she heard a noise at about 11 o'clock at night. It sounded like pounding on the Borden fence, and lasted five minutes.

Marion Chagnon, mother of Martha, confirmed her daughter, but the purpose of their testimony was not discovered.

Charles M. Gifford and Uriah Kirby both swore to having seen a strange man on the steps of the latter's house, near the Borden residence, at 11 o'clock, the night before the murders. Gifford said the man would weigh between 180 and 190 pounds. He seemed asleep. The witness shook the man and his hat fell off. The witness then went on to the house. The man did not seem to have been drinking. He never saw the man before or since.

Kirby testified that he called out to the man who was on the steps without getting a reply. His hat was pulled down nearly over his eyes. The witness shook him and finally left him there. The mysterious person said nothing and did nothing.

Mark Hughes, a former member of the police force, swore that on the morning of the murder, he saw a buggy standing in front of the Borden house. In a carriage was a man with a brown hat and a black coat. He had never seen the man nor the buggy before.

Dr. Benjamin H. Handin, of Fall River, testified that he went by the Borden house on the morning of the murder, at 9 o'clock. I saw a medium-sized young man, very pale, with his eyes fixed on the sidewalk, passing slowly towards the south. He was acting strangely. In consequence of his appearance I turned in my carriage to watch him as he went down the street. I have a faint idea thatI had seen him before."

Mrs. Delia S. Manley, who lives on Second street, in Fall River, stepped up against the railing and in answer to a question by Mr. Jennings said she was familiar with the grounds about the Borden house. She was passing the Borden house with Mrs. Hart when she saw a young man, attired in a suit of white, standing by the Borden gate. That was about 9:45 o'clock. She had not noticed the young man when she first came along.

In answer to questions she said there was nothing peculiar about his clothing.

George T. Borden, a relative of the defendant, testified he entered the house on the day of the murder, finding the doors unlocked.

W. P. Stevens who, at the time of the tragedy, was a reporter for one of the Fall River dailies, was called. His testimony was the most important for the defense that came out up to this time. He went to the Borden house on the morning of the tragedy in the regular course of his business. He went through the grounds and out to the barn. "While I was in there," he said, "I heard persons walking about in the upper part of the barn."

Policeman Medley, it will be remembered, had sworn that there were no traces of footsteps in the dust of the barn floor loft when he went up there to make an investigation. The witness said that he did not see any one about and he remained in the barn only a moment or so.

Robarnsky, an ice cream peddler, was called. He said he went by the Borden house on his way home the morning the murder was committed.

"What did you see?"

"I saw a lady come out of the barn and go to the stairs at the house."

"How did she go?"

'She was walking slowly," said the witness. 'She went in under the stairs."

Did you see her go into the house?"

"I don't know about that."

Robarnsky said it was not the servant he saw. He could not tell how she was dressed.

Mr. Knowlton asked about where he had seen the woman. She was some distance from the house, he said. Her back was toward the barn.

Then Robarnsky caused something of a sensation when he answered these questions:

"Did you say anything to anybody about this?"

"Yes."

"Whom?"

"Policeman Medley."

"What did you tell him?"

"I told him all about it."

Did you tell him what time it was when you saw the woman?"

"Yes."

"What time was it?"

"It was after 11 o'clock."

"How much after?"

He was not sure about that but he knew it was after 11 o'clock. Robarnsky said he had sold things to Bridget Sullivan and knew her face.

Two boys then testified that they visited the Borden's barn just after the murder and walked all around the loft.

The jury retired at 4:48 o'clock, while counsel argued the admissability of the evidence of Joseph L. May, who found a man covered with blood near Steep Brook, August 16th, who talked about the Borden murder.

The question was reserved until this morning and the court adjourned.

ANOTHER ESCAPE FROM SING SING.

Charles Adams Eludes His Keeper and Cannot be Found.

Sing Sing, N. Y., June 15.—Frank Adams, a convict in Sing Sing serving a second term, his right name being John Henry, escaped from that institution yesterday while working outside the prison walls in the yard behind the old female prison. Adams asked permission to go to a closet near by. As he did not return the keeper went to look for him, but he has not been seen since. A thorough search resulted only in the finding of the fugitive's clothes near the closet. It then became evident that there was collusion with the outside world and that a suit of citizen's clothes had been left for him. A reward of $500 is offered for Adams's arrest. A peculiar part of the escape is that had the man stayed he would have been discharged next Monday. This is the fourth escape from the prison in less than two months.

IT WAS "GERMAN DAY"

And the World's Fair Grounds Were Crowded—Carl Schurz Speaks.

Chicago, June 15.—"German day" at the world's fair has come and gone. It was welcomed by a melodious chiming of bells and ushered out late tonight with a glorious pyrotechnic display. It was the grandest day the "White City" has yet seen and it recorded the largest attendance that has yet assembled there. Pleasure loving, patriotic Germans and German-Americans gathered in from all over the country and joined the Chicago Teutons in making the event a grand success. Near a quarter of a million people passed through the turn styles into the grounds and half of them were there to take a hand in celebrating the German day. An address was delivered by Hon. Carl Schurz.

Dedication of Indiana's Building.

Hoosiers thronged the exposition grounds today. For several days incoming trains from the east have been loaded with citizens of Indiana and when they arrived for the formal dedicatory exercises of the Indiana building today, the halls of the structure were filled with people. The building has been open to visitors since May 1st, but it was thought proper to observe some form of ceremony and a programme was arranged and today set for the exercises.

Ex-President Harrison arrived just before the beginning of the ceremonies and was greeted with a generous applause. He and his party were escorted to seats especially reserved for them. Prayer was offered by Dr. Gobin, after which B. F. Haven, executive commissioner, made a short address, in which he stated in detail the work which the executive board has accomplished and then delivered the keys of the building to Clement Studebaker, president of the board of managers. Mr. Studebaker accepted the keys in a brief speech and presented them to Governor Matthews. The governor spoke at some length and complimented the commissioners on the work they had accomplished.

STARR SURROUNDED.

The Robber Will Be Taken Dead or Alive by His Pursuers.

Fort Gibson, I. T., June 15.—Henry Starr, the notorious train robber and bank wrecker, is surrounded by deputy marshals and a sheriff's posse, at a point on Boge creek, about twenty miles from Nowata, the bandit's home. Unless the posse weakens, Starr will be taken either dead or alive. Some of his pursuers are Cherokee Indians, and, if necessary, they will meet Starr in open field with Winchesters. The reward of $15,000 is the cause for the present active movements against the bandits. Starr has six men, while the posse numbers twenty.

Briggs Will Continue His Work.

New York, June 15.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Union seminary it was decided that C. A. Briggs, D. D., will continue his work in the department of Biblical [illegible] as hitherto. The directors also decided that special provisions should be made so that none of the students of Union seminary will suffer from the restrictions which have been put upon the board of education.

Will Convene at Cincinnati.

Columbus, O., June 15.—The democratic state central committee met here this morning and selected Cincinnati as the place for holding the next convention. August 9th and 10th were fixed as dates for the convention. Hon. H. R. Barges, of Columbus, was selected temporary chairman.

WELL, THIS ENDS IT.

DeLesseps, Fontaine and the Other Panama Canal Swindlers

ORDERED RELEASED BY THE COURT,

Which Held That the Statute of Limitations Covered the Offenses.

AND THE INDICTMENTS WERE IRREGULAR

M. Eiffel Was at Once Liberated—DeLesseps Is in Hospital and Will Soon Leave It a Free Man.

Paris, June 15.—Considerable excitement has been caused by the decision of the court of cessation on the appeal of Charles de Lesseps and the other defendants convicted of fraud in connection with the Panama Canal Company. The court handed down its decision today, quashing the sentences on the ground that the statute of limitation covered the offences charged and that the indictments on which the prisoners were charged were irregular.

In consequence of this decision M. Eiffel was at once liberated. M. Charles de Lesseps, who is in the St. Louis hospital suffering with acute attacks of dyspepsia, was informed that he was at liberty. He was too ill to leave the hospital. There were five defendants convicted on the trial, which ended on February 9th last. There were Ferdenand de Lesseps, his son Charles, Marius Fontaine, Henri Cottu and Gustavus Eiffel. Ferdinand de Lesseps was sentenced to five years imprisonment and to pay a fine.

And thus ends one of the greatest criminal cases France has ever known, in which the names of men prominent in political and social life were badly smirched and which caused Baron de Reinach to commit suicide and two or three others to flee the country.

M. Fontaine was also notified of the reversal of his sentence and was at once given his liberty. In addition to the sentence of five years' imprisonment imposed upon M. Charles de Lesseps, he was sentenced at a later trial to serve a year for bribing certain members of the chamber to vote for the Panama lottery bond bill. This sentence has not been set aside and the statement that he was told this morning that he was at liberty was slightly erroneous. The sentence of one year's imprisonment is not connected with the other sentence. M. DeLesseps's time of one year was reduced to one-half. It is probable the unserved portion of this sentence will be remitted and that M. DeLesseps will leave the hospital as soon as he is able.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.

Socialists Polled a Very Large Vote and Have Made Gains.

Berlin, June 15.—This is election day throughout the German empire, and almost tropical weather prevails everywhere in the country. In Berlin, the pavements have been scorching. Apparently, the election has been a notably quiet one. In Berlin, there has been a complete absence of all excitement. The wealthier classes seemed to be apathetic as to the outcome. The authorities, fearing disorder among the voters of the lower classes, had the troops and the reserve police kept in their barracks, so as to be ready to repress any outbreak. Very few voters went to the polls before noon. At that hour, the workmen left the factories. They walked in groups to the voting stations and deposited their ballots. The stations of the fourth and sixth districts have loacted in Ackner Strasse, Brunenstrasse, Chausse strasse, the Frankfurter strasse and the Rosenthaler thor were crowded. Groups of men surrounded the election posters, searching for any information as to the location where they were to vote. There were 206 stations in the city, fifty of them being at taverns and restaurants, while the remainder were in school buildings and vestry halls. Chancellor von Caprivi and Dr. von Boetticher, secretary of the imperial home office, voted at the Kaiserhoff station. They apparently believed in depositing their ballots as soon as possible, for they were among the earliest voters at the polls. All the officials attached to the postiffice received five hours' leave of absence, in order that they might vote. Arrangements were made by which the firemen and the men employed on the tramways and omnibus lines might go to the polls in relays. Each relay was allowed two hours for voting purposes.

A number of men and women gathered at 8 o'clock this morning at the Buck brewery, the headquarters of the socialists in the second district, where Fischer ran. They devoted themselves to receiving orders for electoral tickets, while others scattered leaflets in behalf of the party broadcast. The socialists displayed more activity than any other of the political groups. Women seemed to be as deeply interested in the success of the social democratic candidates as were the men of the party, and they labored in every way to aid the candidates. Early in the day the social democrats were roused by a dispatch, credited to The Saale Gazette (liberal), to the effect that Fritz Kunert, social democrat in the Halle district, had been arrested on a charge of inciting to theft, while he was making his last campaign speech. This dispatch, however, was followed during the afternoon by others, from which the social democrats could draw only encouragement. At the headquarters of the executive committee telegram after telegram brought news of social democratic gains.

An enormous vote evidently was being polled for socialistic candidates in the Rhine provinces, Saxony, Hamburg, Frankfor-on-the-Main and other industrial centers. Paul Singer, socialist, in the fourth Berlin district, and Herr Schmidt, socialist candidate in the sixth district, were reported as sure of being returned by heavy majorities. The socialists were also confident that they would capture the third Berlin district: on the first poll, as at the last election, they lacked only a few votes of electing their candidate. In this district, Herr Voght ran in the socialist interest. Fischer, socialist in the second district, and Liebnecht, socialist in the fifth district, were regarded as likely to be elected in a reballoting. In Hamburg, the balloting may result in the return of three socialists. Stadthagen, socialist, was reported safe at Niederbarnim. Anstatt, Leipsic city, Dresden, the first and second divisions of Kiel. West Breslau, Erlangen, Mainz, Mannheim, Offenbach and Sonneberg were said to be likely to send socialists to the reichstag.

Herr Krupp, national liberal, running in Essen, against Editor Staotzel, a member of the Lieber wing of the Center party, was said not to be getting the support he expected. Dr. Stoecker, anti-Semite at Siegen; Baron Hammerstein, conservative at Seigen-Herford, and Eugene Richter, at Hagen, were reported at 6 o'clock as sure of their seats.

The agrarians were highly elated when they learned in the afternoon that Count Herbert Bismarck had run so unexpectedly well in the Jericho district that a reballot probably would be necessary. The general expectation was that Count Herbert Bismarck would be beaten easily by his free-trade antagonist.

Early in the afternoon, report brought equally surprising news from the first Berlin district, where Colonel von Egidy, anti-Semite, was said to be polling a very heavy vote among the wealthiest and best educated voters. His candidacy was ridiculed during the campaign by all the liberal newspapers. The fight was supposed, before today, to be between him and the Herr Richterites. No small part of Colonel Egidy's anti-Semite support is due to the efforts which Berlin society women have made in his behalf. Curiously enough, managers from the bourse have supported him.

At 6 o'clock this evening, nothing was known as to the result of the election, although dispatches from 120 electoral districts indicated that the socialists had secured thirty of them, and the conservatives Richter (radical people's party) and liberal clericals had divided the other ninety among them. Between 4 and 6 o'clock, the crowd increased almost beyond endurance in the street. All the workingmen left their shops after 4 o'clock.

The Latest Returns.

Berlin, June 16.—At 2 o'clock this morning returns from seventy districts indicate that twenty-six have been carried by parties opposed to the army bill, fourteen have been carried for parties favoring the bill and nineteen are in doubt between the government and the opposition, with the chances in the majority of the cases strongly in favor of the government. The government parties have lost three of their former seats—two to the Richterites, or social democrats, as the second ballot shall decide, and one to a south German democrat. The government has won one seat from the opposition. The social democrats have won two seats, besides having secured many chances for new victories on the second ballot.

A curious feature of their two accomplished victories in new fields is that they won at the expense of the Richter radicals, also enemies of the army bill, and not, as was expected, at the expense of the national liberals, the friends of the bill. Although the social democratic gains are undoubtedly enormous, they will not prove so large probably as the reports so far have indicated. The returns from the cities come in first and it is in the cities that the social democrats always run best.

In Berlin not a single candidate pledged to support the army bill has gained even the barren honor of a reballot. The prospects of a government majority appear to be vanishing. Roughly speaking the socialist vote shows a great increase everywhere. The radical vote has diminished heavily, chiefly, it would seem because the better class of the radical party voted for the anti-semitic candidates. Not 10 per cent of the votes cast in Berlin were given in favor of the army bill. Seldom has the city spoken in such an emphatic tones. The provincial returns appear to be equally emphatic in the same direction. The great success of social democrats has caused a profound sensation.

BEHRING SEA TRIBUNAL.

Sir Richard Webster Continues His Argument for Great Britain.

Paris, June 15.—Sir Richard Webster, of the counsel for Great Britain, today continued his argument before the Behring sea tribunal of arbitration. In the course of his address he protested against the assertion that the killing of female seals was a crime per se. He declared that the language used by Mr. Coudert, of the counsel for the United States, in his speech to the court regarding the slaughter of female seals, and certain other contentions of the American counsel, were exaggerated. Sir Richard maintained that no pup seals died on the Pribyloff islands from starvation, owing to their mothers being killed at sea. Neither the government agents nor the Alaska Commercial Company's agents has testified to any abnormal increase in the death of pup seals between 1884 and 1890, as the Americans declared had been the case.

Sir Richard read from the evidence to prove that seals were not bound to go upon land in order to shed their coats. He declared that the United States declared more protection than property rights would give them. America, he said, must prove that all seals return to the Pribyloff islands, whereas, as a matter of fact, the male seals that were too old for breeding purposes and barren females never return to the island, even if they are not caught by pelagic hunters. Numbers of seals were thus lost to the trade.

THIEVING MONKS.

They Stole the Gems from the Church of the Kremlin.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—The Church of the Chudov Monastery, which is within the walls of the Kremlin, was recently robbed of a vast amount of plate, money and gems. The property and money taken amounted to between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 roubles. Today all the monks belonging to the monastery were arrested. The search of cells occupied by the monks revealed that they had perpetrated the robbery. Secreted in the cells were found diamonds and other gems which had been hastily torn from their settings, and the missing holy vassals of precious metals. A charge of sacrilege has been made against the monks.

EXAMINATION OF CONTRACTORS

About the Repairs On the Old Ford Building.

Washington, June 15.—The new inquest has started. Four days of work has been wasted and now the work of finding, so far as a coroner's jury can find, who is responsible for the disaster at the Ford's building, has been commenced once more. The decision by Judge Bingham yesterday, of course, necessitated an entirely new inquest. All the testimony which had so far been given was of no value from a legal standpoint than if it had been delivered to the winds, instead of to six attentive supposed jurors. Through this case, however, the district has learned something, and this morning an inquest was started in a formal way.

Colonel Ainesworth's attorney was in the hall a few minutes before the inquest began but he withdrew before Coroner Patterson rapped the jury to order. The old jury was resummoned for the new inquest and the coroner and the six jurymen—Messrs. Warner, Havey, Sibley, Schneider, Kellogg and Ayre—went to Glenwood cemetery and viewed the body of Frederick P. Loftus, one of the victims, whose body lies in a receiving vault there.

The first witness was James L. Parsons, a contractor and builder, who testified that he had examined the old theater last month with a view of submitting a bid for making the proposed alterations. He submitted a bid for the contemplated work, but failed to get the contract. In a subsequent examination of the work he noticed that no shoring had been done and there was no evidence of any having been done. The witness said he would have shored the floors from the cellar piers up, while the work was being done, if he had gotten the contract. When the witness examined the building he found no evidences of any unsafe conditions. 'I would consider the building at that time as absolutely safe."

In reply to Mr. Thomas's question, he said the construction was ample for the accommodation of 500 clerks.

Should Have Been Braced.

Witness created something of a sensation when he said that not a brick could have been moved with safety to the building unless all the floors had been shored up. The work could have been completed in safety had the shoring been done. The specification for the work did not call for the shoring while the work was going on. It was provided that the contractor should take every precaution.

From an examination of the work after the accident, Mr. Parsons said he did not consider that it had been done properly.

Juror Hanvey asked if he would have done it that way himself.

"Most assuredly not," was the reply.

Attorney Thomas then read aloud the specifications for the work. There was a murmur when the clause was read, "and the contractor shall be liable for all damages that shall be done to the building."

Mr. Parsons did not know under whose supervision the work had been done. Witness had never known work of that character to be done under such specifications or upon the sole responsibility of the contractor.

Colonel Ainesworth submitted a letter to the coroner.

The colonel denies that his presence tended to intimidate witnesses; states that false evidence has been given, which he desires to have corrected. He concludes with the request that evidence not necessary to the case in question be excluded and insists on the privilege of cross-examination. He says: "In order that I may know what course to pursue, I request your instructions in the premises."

Coroner Patterson declined to accede to the request and the inquiry proceeded.

Relied on the Expert.

Francis Sass, the engineer of the old building, said he made the specifications for the electric light plant. He had built an archway and a seven-room dwelling, but had no other experience in buildings. Colonel Ainesworth visited the building nearly every day, sometimes in company with Captain Thorpe. So far as he knew there was no superintendent of the work. The witness looked at the excavation every day, but saw no signs of shoring. Cross-examined, the witness said he had considered himself competent as a mechanical engineer to draw plans, but did not consider himself competent to say how the work should be done.

Juror Hanvey showed some impatience with the witness at this point.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, "that you considered yourself competent to draw the plans for this work when you did not know how it should be done?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Sass.

"You never knew how it was to be done?"

"I considered that the expert who would be in charge of the work would know that?"

"Did you ever see any underpinning?"

"Never."

How did you know the work would be safe?"

"The expert was to determine that."

At this point a recess was taken. After recess C. W. Perkins, a builder; David L. Cissell, a bricklayer, and Columbus Thomas, a builder, were examined. They all agreed that the collapse was caused by the unskilled character of the work.

Mr. Cissell said it was about the worst he ever saw.

Captain Thorpe, of the war department, testified that he had nothing to do with the preparations of the specifications, which he understood, was supervised by Colonel Ainesworth alone.

Adjourned until tomorrow.

Another Victim.

Washington, June 15.—(Special.)—Last Friday Mrs. White, a widow, was at her home at 828 Twelfth street, this city. She was in good health and cheerful spirits when a neighbor ran in and told her that the record and pension office had collapsed and killed nearly everybody in it.

Mrs. White's fifteen-year-old son is employed at the pension office. She knew nothing of the record and pension office and when she heard the word "pension" office she thought it meant the big judiciary building in Judiciary square and never gave a thought to the old theater on Tenth street. Waiting for nothing further she rushed frantically from the house, shrieking as she went down towards Judiciary square. She had ran two or three squares, her breath coming and going in short spasms, when she suddenly pitched forward and fell unconscious on the pavement. She was picked up and carried back to her house and placed under the care of a physician. She lay in a semi-conscious condition until late yesterday, when she died without having spoken a word since she fell in the street.

SANK OUT OF SIGHT.

Drowning of a Young Priest and a Cousin in North River.

New York, June 15.—The Rev. Father Charles B. McDenna, twenty-six years old, a young priest attached to St. Anne's church, was drowned in the North river this afternoon. His cousin, Mrs. Margaret Burchell, formerly Miss Margaret Curley, of Homestead, Pa., who had accompanied him, was also drowned. When the couple attempted to land Mrs. Burchell got out of the boat and then stepped back again, probably for a satchel she had left behind. In doing so she was thrown into the water. She could not swim and the young priest dived in after her. He caught hold of her hair and endeavored to swim to the boat with her, but she threw her arms around his neck and made his efforts powerless. A strong tide carried them out into the river and they finally sank out of sight.

NO BARROOM THERE,

But Moonshine Liquor is Plentiful Among the Mountains.

Canton, N. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Western North Carolina has long enjoyed the distinction of being a veritable moonshiners' paradise which, however, has always been an undeservedly harsh judgment; but it appears from reports that recently a part of it is merited.

Deputy United States Marshals Smathers and Mills have returned from a raid in the mountains, between Haywood and Transylvania counties, and say that they ran the men in that they were after, but failed to get them. They say that they have just made thirteen cases and expect to make quite a number of arrests at once.

There is not a licensed barroom west of Asheville, in North Carolina, and the officers declare their intention to break up the moonshiners in this district.

Father Dent's Case.

Brooklyn, June 15.—The suit brought by Father Francis Dent against the order of St. Francis for $50,000 damages and reinstatement into the order, came to a sudden close today. Just before the adjournment of court yesterday Father Dent presented as evidence a copy of the rescript which declared that the rescript presented by the defense, showing that Father Dent had been expelled from the order, was fraudulent. The document which Father Dent offered in evidence was issued by the sacred congregation of bishops and regulars at Rome. Counselor Bliss said this morning that the existence of such a document was a complete surprise to him and his clients and he therefore asked for his withdrawal as a juror to enable the defense to secure depositions from Rome as to the genuineness of the document offered by Father Dent.

He Went Blind.

Statesboro, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—About two weeks ago Henry Cross, a colored boy in the employ of Mr. James Donaldson, living just beyond the old Riggs mill in this county, was taken with a severe pain in his head. He, after exhausting all means to relieve the pain, applied to a doctor, but failed to get any relief, until Sunday last, when the pain stopped, when he suddenly lost the sight of both eyes. He was taken in charge by the ordinary, who furnished him means of transportation to his home in North Carolina. Sheriff Waters accompanied the unfortunate boy as far as Dover, where he placed him in charge of the conductor.

Meetings in Marietta.

Marietta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The series of meetings held at the Methodist church, morning and night, this week, are full of interest, and are well attended. Rev. H. J. Ellis is assisted by Rev. A. D. Echols, who preached a sermon of great power and earnestness on Tuesday night from the text "Roll ye away the stone" Rev. Mr. Burtz is also present. Rev. Mr. Warlick, of Woodbury, is expected to be present. The meeting is promising of good results, and the people are urged to attend.

Drowned in South River.

McDonough, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Mr. Thomas J. Thompson was drowned yesterday afternoon in a lake on South river, near Peachstone Shoals. He was putting out some nets in very deep water and it is supposed he was taken with cramp. Mr. Jordan, a baggage master who runs on the Georgia Midland railroad, was with him, but could not prevent the fatal accident. Mr. Thompson was a son-in-law of Colonel Charles Zachery. He was a good citizen. He leaves a wife and five children.

Frankfort Remains the Capital.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—The house settled the statehouse removal fight this evening by deciding in favor of Frankfort, the present seat of government.

Must not be confounded with common cathartic or purgative pills. Carter's Little Liver Pills are entirely unlike them in every respect. On trial will prove their superiority.

DEATH IN THE DRUG.

Poison Given to a Babe by Its Grandmother in Mistake.

SHE HAD THE WRONG BOTTLE.

Apoplexy Carries Off a Patient Who Was Preparing to Take the Whisky Cure—Other Augusta Notes.

Augusta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A sad accident, the result of a mistake in medicines, happened last evening. Mrs. W. M. Heckle, who lives on the Sand Hills, through a misapprehension, gave her granddaughter, the sixteen-months-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Deas, a dose of poisonous medicine, which caused the child's death. Dr. McNaughton had prescribed a blood-purifying medicine to be taken internally.

Mrs. Heckle's son, Mr. Tom Heckle, had a vial of poisonous medicine which he used externally as an application for ulcer. The mistake made by Mrs. Heckle was in giving the baby a teaspoonful of the poisonous drug internally for the blood purifier. The babe was taken ill at once and was quickly carried to Dr. McNaughton's office, but by the time they reached the doctor the baby's stomach had absorbed the poison. Efforts were made to relieve the infant, but without avail, and it died in the doctor's office.

The poison was a mixture of chloral hydrate fluid extract of both poke root and blue flag. Mrs. Heckle was devoted to the child and she is deeply grieved over the sad accident.

Stricken by Apoplexy.

Mr. Seaman Weeks, who worked at Thomas & Barton's steam dying works, died suddenly at the Bonner institute this morning from apoplexy.

Mr. Weeks entered the institute a day or two ago to be treated for the drinking habit, but had not been treated, as he was not in condition. The doctors were just getting him in shape to take a course of medicine.

Mr. Weeks was out yesterday and visited his family, and was attacked about 8 o'clock last night just as he was retiring. Mrs. Weeks was inclined to attribute her husband's death to the treatment, and wanted the case examined, but after hearing from the attending doctors the coroner would not hold an inquest.

Confessed to Arson.

In the superior court this morning Albert Sutton, a negro, plead guilty to the charge of arson in burning an unoccupied house belonging to Henry Jennings. He was sent to the penitentiary for four years. Maggie, the wife of Albert, also charged with the same offense, was given a consent verdict of not guilty.

Will Green and Dave Hill each were sentenced to the penitentiary for two years for burglary, and for the same offense Babe Madison was sent to the reformatory to remain there during his minority.

HE WAS A SNORER

And the Town Thought the Animals Were Loose.

Millen, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The central portion of our town for the past few weeks has been greatly disturbed and alarmed at night by the hideous sounds of what was supposed to be some wild animal that was making nightly visits to our town.

These unearthly sounds actually brought consternation and fear to the older and more thoughtful people, while those of nervous temperament were thrown into spasmodic fits. Small children woke with frightful fits of screaming and refused to be quieted. Our bravest and most stout-hearted men dared not go out to investigate. These distressing sounds were varied from the screaming of a tom cat to the braying of a mule, and concluded with a growl very much resembling that of an angry tigress, while at other times it took the sound of a hungry, roaring lion.

The whole thing remained a profound mystery until a few nights ago Dr. J. L. Farmer, while out on a professional call, passed through the immediate vicinity of this disturbance, and discovered that these unearthly sounds proceeded from a certain boarding house and were caused by a new occupant of said house who is now best known to our citizens as the champion snorer of the world. The doctor states on oath that these sounds could be heard distinctly for 300 yards, and had it not been for a freight train running in just at that time he thinks it might have been heard a mile. The doctor is staking his reputation as a practicing physician against any man who will compete with this notorious snorer.

LIFE AT POWDER SPRINGS.

Farmers Busy and Picnic Times Generally.

Powder Springs, Ga., June 15.—(Special.) The wheat harvest is here and some of our farmers are thus engaged this week. The wheat, though little sown, is unusually good for this section. The oat crop was never more promising.

Saturday, the 1st day of July, is set apart for the annual picnic at this place. Everybody who desires a day of pleasant recreation should avail themselves of this occasion. The entertaining feature for the day will begin early and a special invitation is extended to all to come and bring dinner enough for themselves and some friends.

Miss Bessie Anderson, having finished her course in music at the Centenary college, Cleveland, Tenn., returned home here last week. She has accepted a position there as assistant vocalist, and will go back in September.

Miss Alice Turner, of Waco, Tex., arrived here last Saturday to spend the summer and fall with her relatives.

Mrs. Barnie Kiser, of Atlanta, and Miss Lizzie Florence, from Hampton, Ga., are here visiting the family of Mrs. B. S. Florence.

Miss Leola Sellman returned to her home near here last week to spend her vacation from Shorter college, where she has been teaching this year.

COMMENCEMENT AT CUTHBERT.

Andrew College Exercises—Officers of Two Institutions.

Cuthbert, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—While the commencement exercises of our Andrew Female college are in progress the trustees of our Bethel (male) college are busy at work getting everything in shape for the new year with their college. At a meeting held here Tuesday, Professor N. T. Coleman, of Alabama, was elected president. Professor Coleman is a superior educator. He has taught in many of the prominent schools and colleges in the south. He is a fine scholar and a graduate of a Pennsylvania college. His wife was also elected to a chair in the college. She, too, is a ripe scholar and of wide experience. Mr. Fred Barfield, of this city, in the present senior class of the University of Georgia, was elected to a professorship. He is a close student and fine young man. All these teachers come highly recommended. Other chairs will be filled later. The trustees and friends of this institution are at work and will keep the college up to its high standard. In fact, they propose to raise it considerably.

Rev. E. V. Baldy, pastor of the Baptist church, this city, delivered the address at the closing exercises of the Shellman institute.

Exercises at Andrew.

Instead of the usual essay reading by the senior class, as heretofore customary at Andrew college, a varied programme was given this year, consisting of vocal, instrumental music, recitations, character impersonations and plays.

Hon. W. C. Glenn, of Atlanta, was to have been the literary orator. He was at the last moment prevented from coming. This was a great disappointment to the people. Rev. J. O. Branch, D.D., kindly consented to take his place.

The annual musical concert by the pupils in the musical department was highly interesting and showed the high standard to which the college has reached in this department. The art display by the pupils of the art class has also been highly complimented by the people at home as well as abroad.

The medals were delivered by Captain A. G. Miller, president of the agricultural and military college, in a most happy way. The following young ladies were successful: Primary elocution, Miss Ross Ellis, of Cuthbert; sophomore elocution, Miss Mamie Sawyer, of Dawson; original composition, junior class, Miss Florence Barry of Coleman; excellence in deportment in boarding department of college, Miss Rosa Sealy, of Randolph county; improvement in music, Miss Emmie Webb, of Cuthbert; general excellence medal entire college, Miss Charlie Duke, of Cuthbert. The boarding pupils of the college presented President and Mrs. Twitty with a handsome present.

The following new trusttees of the college were elected: Revs. W. J. Robinson, of Albany; H. Stubbs, of Cordele; E. M. Whiting, of Dawson, and J. E. Roy, of Macon; also Messrs. Lemuel Johnson, of Waycross; A. W. Muse, of Albany; N. P. Banks, of Columbus, and L. E. Key, of Cuthbert.

EX-POSAMASTER DENNING DEAD.

He Had Lived in Augusta 25 Years and Was a Prominent Republican.

Augusta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Ex-Postmaster Jabez T. Denning, who held office under Mr. Harrison's administration up to a few weeks ago, when he was removed, died at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

He has been an invalid for the last two years, being troubled with spinal affection, and his death has been looked for for months. He was about fifty years old and leaves a wife and two daughters.

Captain Denning was in the federal army and came to Georgia after the war from Maine. He was engaged in the mercantile business here for a number of years.

Twenty-Two Graduates.

Columbus, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The closing exercises of the Columbus public schools were held ta the opera house tonight and were very interesting. Diplomas were awarded to twenty graduates. The address of Mr. John D. Little to the graduating class was a magnificent one.

THE ALLIANCE WAREHOUSE

At Talbotton Shows a Falling Off in Receipts.

Talbotton, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The indications are now that the annual report of the alliance warehouse at this place, which will be made up about July 1st, will show a falling off in receipts of about 3,500 bales. It is not to be inferred from this, however, that any considerable amount of cotton was diverted from this point last season, the shortage here being about the relative falling off in the crop in this section. Notwithstanding this large falling off in receipts—about 5,600 against 9,100 last year—the warehouse has prospered financially, earning about 40 per cent on its capital stock. These earnings have been invested in an addition to the warehouse built of corrugated iron and costing about $1,600. We are informed that this is the only warehouse remaining in the state unincumbered and owned and controlled exclusively by alliancemen. The fact that it has been such a phenomenal success certainly speaks well of the wise and successful management of the able board of directors and Manager Brown.

THE GROWING CROPS.

Grain and Fruits Are Doing Well in All Sections.

Albany, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The crop prospects in this section were never more flattering; the rains have fallen exactly right; labor has been plentiful and tractable, and everybody is jubilant over the prospect. The corn crop promises to be immense.

Sandersville, June 15.—(Special.)—Crops are in very good condition, with few exceptions where the crowfoot grass has a foothold. Corn and cotton both have good color, and these crops are growing rapidly. There has been plenty of rain in all sections of the county.

St. Mary's, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—So far, this has been a splendid year for the farmers of Camden county. The farmers in general are doing well, and now their crops are looking fine, and, unless some unforeseen accident happens there is little doubt but that the farmers will have plenty to run them for another year. The fruit crop seems as though it will be plentiful, and especially peaches.

Roswell, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The wheat crop is good in this part of the county. Harvesting is being pushed during the good weather. The oat crop is very promising. The farmers are making good use of the sunshine since the continued rains.

"DON'T GO WEST"

Is the Advice of a Georgian Who Has Been There.

Marietta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Mr. R. P. McElwreath, who went from here to Wise county, Texas, writes a very discouraging letter to a friend here. He says:

"Since I have been in Texas I have met many Georgians. Very few of them have made anything by coming west. Those that stopped in the malarial districts have died out early. Those that stopped in the rich, black lands have done well, just as a hog does well in the mud. They have not had a clear drink of water except what fell from the clouds. Among those that came out here on the prairies, perhaps one in fifty have made money. The rest are poor and growing poorer every year. Some who came from Cobb county invested all they had in a crop of wheat last year and lost it. They think they can make it this year, and they may."

HIS FOOT CAUGHT

And the Track Hand Fell Under the Freight Engine.

Athens, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A horrible accident occurred yesterday morning just this side of Sidney. An unfortunate track hand named H. Smith, was the victim. Several track hands were at work near the siding during early morning hours and were on a hand car moving along the track. Suddenly from behind them, a freight train came thundering down around the curve. They did their best to get out of the way, and Engineer Gay, who was at the throttle, reversed his engine, put on brakes and tried hard to stop the train. He didn't succeed, however, and the engine crashed into the little hand car, hurling it off the track some distance. When the collision came all had left the car except Smith who in jumping hitched his foot on the track and was drawn under the wheels of the engine. His body was terribly mangled.

THE CONVICT RODE OFF.

He Took a Horse and Got Away—An Accidental Death.

Waycross, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A negro convict working for the Liberty Brick Manufacturing Company near Johnstown station, escaped last night. He was in charge of the stock. About dark he was sent to attend to the horses and mules. He did not return promptly and a search was made. It was found that he had taken the horse of Mr. Allen to get away with. He was followed some distance in the country, but up to this morning had not been caught.

John Gardner, while riding on the tram cars of J. W. Hughes near Jones creek, lost his balance and fell between the cars. The trucks ran over his head and body, killing him instantly.

GOLD VEINS DISCOVERED.

Rich Deposits of the Precious Metal Found in Gwinnett.

Flowery Branch, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A very rich gold vein is said to have been located on the plantation of Mr. W. S. Moon, within a mile of Flowery Branch, and if developed, will enthuse new life in our already progressive town.

PEACE IN MACON.

Another Card Appears and the Excitement Simmers Down.

COMMENCEMENT AT MOUNT DE SALES.

Judge Speer Sentences an ex-Convict Who Was Once Pardoned by President Cleveland—Other Macon News.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises at Mount de Sales, the well-known Catholic female college, occurred today. The programme was very interesting, and splendidly executed. The following medals and honors were awarded: Senior scholarship medals, Annie Mock; Rev. J. B. Sinulaer's Christian doctrine medal, drawn for by several members, and won by Teresa Brosman; Rev. A. J. Semmes's history medal, won by Annie Mock; crown of honor for deportment in the senior class of the boarding school, awarded to May Hightower, Conn; for perfect lessons and exemplary deportment throughout the term, awarded to M. Hightoker and Cora Christian; graduating honors, a gold medal and diploma, awarded to Birdie Barksdale, Julia Christian and Lynette Hightower. The valedictory was read by Birdie Barksdale.

Honorable mention was made of Alma Kennington, Eva Isam, Ella Kennington, Lizzie and Teresa Donnelly, Myrtelle Jelard and Mamie Kennington. Premiums were awarded as follows: Third senior class, May Hightower and Mamie Calhoun; first, preparatory class, Cora Christian and Mary Jane Rooney; second preparatory class, Fannie May and Maggie Fitzgerald; improvement in penmanship, Lizzie Kelley; history, third senior class, May Hightower; French, Annie Mock; instrumental music, L. Hightower, Bessie Barksdale, A. Mock, J. Christian, K. Murphey, I. N. Foley, Mary Rooney, M. Calhoun, F. May; primary class, Martha Matthis, Allice Wyche, Lottie Trye and Maggie Cassidy.

Sewer Bonds Indorsed.

The board of trade met this afternoon, at 5 o'clock, to discuss the sewer question. By a vote of sixteen toten, the sewer ordinance calling for an election June 21st was adopted. A sub-committee of Hanson, Jaques and Toole were appointed to select an advisory committee of seven citizens to act with the mayor and council in conformity with the ordinance. A resolution was defeated which provided that the board of trade take an active part in the election of the polls for sewer bonds. The meeting declared that the board of trade was not a political organization.

Sent to the Penitentiary.

In the United States court today Judge Speer sentenced Will R. Jackson to the penitentiary for ten years for making counterfeit money and to five years for passing it. Ed Wyatt, who was an accomplice with Jackson, got five years for passing the queer. Jackson was formerly assistant postmaster at Americus and was sentenced in 1887 to six years in the penitentiary for embezzlement from the mails, but he was pardoned in a short time by Mr. Cleveland on account of ill health and the earnest pleas of Jackson's mother, who has since died.

Father Hubert Buried.

The funeral services of Rev. Father Durias Hubert, S. J., were held today and temporary burial was made at St. Stanislaus cemetery, as the body will be carried to New Orleans for permanent burial. Father Hubert's death occurred from paralysis at St. Stanislaus college. He was stricken with paralysis two years ago in New Orleans. Later he came to Macon. He was one of the best known priests in the Catholic church in the south. He was born in Brittainy in 1823 and came to America in 1855. The funeral services today were very impressing.

The funeral services of Miss Mary Dempsey were held today and her body was carried to Savannah tonight for burial.

Editor Allen's Card.

The only development in the Huff-Allen controversy today was a card published in The Telegraph by Editor Allen and endorsed by Manager Price. In the card Mr. Allen gives a version of Mr. Huff's call which is different from the latter's version.

The excitement is dying out. No trouble is expected.

THIS YOUNG WOMAN HAD SAND.

No Common Tramp Could Rob the Mail While She Had Charge.

From The Kansas City Journal.

Ellen Stewart, of Yarrow valley, has been a stage driver for three years or more, and her route is over twenty miles of very rough and lonesome country. She has had adventures, of course, since she has been at the work, and more or less serious accidents from wash-out roads and snowdrifts, but she has kept right on, driving every day in the year but Sundays, and the business in the route has increased considerably since she has had charge of it.

She came very near being frozen to death one night last winter, when she was stalled in a snowdrift and found it impossible to dig her way out, but some farmers rescued her, and in a few days she was on the box again.

Miss Stewart has also had some trouble from tramps. One night in the spring one of them attempted to hold up the stage. It was a bright moonlight night and Ellen was late. In a lonely part of the road where heavy forests flanked it on either side a man suddenly stepped from behind a tree and, catching the horses by the bits, stopped them.

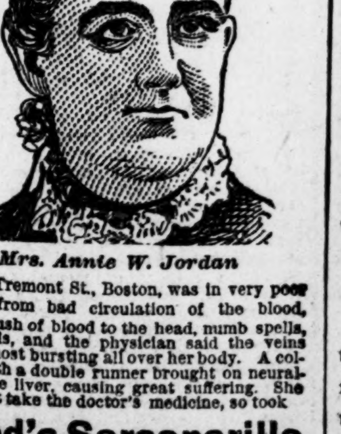

"Throw out that mail bag!" commanded the fellow, gruffly.

Miss Stewart always carried a revolver in a convenient pocket, and in the wink of a cat's eye she had the muzzle of it squarely on the tramp's head.

"Get up on that rear horse!" was the reply that the highwayman got to his order. The man didn't move. "Get up there or I'll shoot you," coolly said the girl. The tramp came to the conclusion that he had better obey orders and scrambled onto the back of the horse.

"Now, sit still till we get to the postoffice or you'll be sorry," said the girl, who kept the man under cover of the revolver. In three-quarters of an hour Miss Stewart drove up to the postoffice with her prisoner and called for some one to come out and take the fellow in charge. There was a crowd of husky young farmers in the office and in ten minutes the would-be highwayman was beyond the possibility of escape.

He was tried for attempting to rob the mail and is now within the walls of the penitentiary. For this piece of work Miss Stewart received a purse of $100 contributed by the farmers along the route.

Mrs. Annie W. Jordan

Of 165 Tremont St., Boston, was in very poor health, from bad circulation of the blood, having rush of blood to the head, numb spells, and chills, and the physician said the veins were almost bursting all over her body. A collision with a double runner brought on neuralgia of the liver, causing great suffering. She could not take the doctor's medicine, so took

The Artillery Hop.

The military hop given at Ponce de Leon Tuesday night under the auspices of the Atlanta Artillery was quite a success. Between two and three hundred people were present and also members in uniform from every military company in the city. All the available dancing space was occupied and the grand march was very pretty indeed. The floor committee consisted of Sergeant F. C. Doster, Corporal J. H. Merritt, Corporal John A. Alley and Private Charles W. Berry.

The Atlanta Artillery is one of the oldest military companies in the state. It was organized in May, 1864, and reorganized August 16, 1886. The company is now in a flourishing condition. Captain C. G. Bradley is in command. He is proud of the fact that he is the only captain that will take an Atlanta company to Camp Northen this year.

The Financial Rumor-Monger.

From The Kansas City Star.

In times of uneasiness in the business world the most dangerous character among men is the rumor-monger. Individuals and corporations are compelled to protect their reputation from him as they guard their property against thieves. He makes a dozen failures out of every one which occurs. He attacks the credit of the best institutions. He does more to unsettle the confidence which underlies business than all the other factors which create distrust. He is a pirate of character and ought to be treated as an outlaw by men who maintain confidence and who depend upon the stability of credit for their prosperity.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY—The petition of J. H. Nunnally and Robert Wiley, of said state and county, shows that they, their associates, successors or assigns, desire to be incorporated for the term of twenty years with the privilege of renewal at the expiration of that time, under the name of

"THE NUNNALLY COMPANY."

The object of said company is pecuniary gain to its stockholders.

The particular business proposed to be carried on is the manufacture and sale of candy, at wholesale and retail, and to buy, manufacture, sell or handle such articles as are usually sold by confectioners, either at wholesale or retail.

Petitioners further desire the privilege of dealing at wholesale or retail in bicycles and typewriters, either or both, of any and all kinds; to buy, sell, exchange and dispose of the same, together with such articles, connections and attachments as are now or may hereafter be generally carried in the business of dealing in bicycles and typewriters.

Petitioners desire the privilege of conducting all of said business together, or each or any of the same separately, as they, their associates, successors, or assigns may determine and in connection with either or all to borrow money, issue bonds, and buy, own and sell real estate.

The capital stock of said corporation shall be twenty thousand ($20,000) dollars, divided into shares of one hundred ($100) dollars each, but petitioners desire the privilege of increasing the capital stock at any time to an amount not exceeding fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars.

The principal office of said company shall be in Atlanta, said state and county, but said company desires the privilege of doing business outside of the state, and of establishing branch offices in or out of the state.

Petitioners pray that they, their associates, successors, or assigns, may have all the corporate authority and powers as are now by the laws of the state of Georgia conferred upon corporations of like character.

And petitioners will ever pray, etc.

HAPPY JUNE BRIDES.

Wedding Bells Rang Merrily and Frequently Yesterday.

SEVERAL VERY BRILLIANT AFFAIRS.

A Citizen of Knoxville Comes to Atlanta for a Fair Daughter—Marriages in Marietta—Society Gossip.

At the residence of the bride's parents on Capitol avenue, Miss Florence Newton was married last night to Mr. John L. Callaway, of Knoxville, Tenn. The ceremony was beautifully and impressively performed by Rev. Henry Newton, of Athens, Ga., assisted by Dr. G. B. Strickler, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. Many friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present and the occasion was in every respect very happy.

First, of those participating in the ceremony, appeared two beautiful little children each bearing a long white ribbon which extended from the hall into the handsomely decorated parlors where the guests were assembled. As these ribbons were carried about four feet apart they formed a temporary aisle through which the bride and groom, attendants and visitors entered.

First after the entrance of the children bearing the ribbons, came the attendants. Miss Annie Callaway, of Sweetwater, Tenn., with Mr. Peyton Todd, of Atlanta; Miss Mary Nagle, of Atlanta, with Mr. Dave Scott, of Knoxville, Tenn. The floral decorations were beautiful and in great profusion.

After the attendants had taken their places the groom entered with his best man, Mr. J. J. Farnesworth, of Knoxville. Then came the bride, leaning upon the arm of her venerable father whose silvery hairs and advanced years formed a touching contrast to the beautiful and tender flower that he was committing to the keeping of another in sacred trust. Here was presented a beautiful picture of the morning and evening-time of life—the one radiant with the joys and hopes that come in the springtide of life, the other happy and contented with heart and soul filled with sweet and tender memories of a life well spent.

The bride wore a dress of soft white silk, trimmed in orange blossoms and the bridal veil was also held in place by the same kind of flowers. These flowers and the bridal veil are heirlooms of the family, and have been worn by three other brides in the same family who were married in the same parlor where the present bride was married.

The bride is a member of an old and stanch Presbyterian family of Atlanta, and her life has been spent amid hosts of friends and admirers here in the city of her birth. Endowed with intellectual gifts of a very high order, combined with a disposition of unusual sweetness, and gentleness, with a heart and nature as pure and tender as the lily's bloom, she combines all the charming qualities that are found in the purest type of southern women.

The bridegroom comes of one of the best families of east Tennessee, and although still in his twenties, has, by true intellectual and moral worth and excellent business qualifications, gained for himself an enviable reputation in social and commercial circles in the city of his adoption.

After the ceremony an elegant supper was given by the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Newton, and the happy couple left on a trip to Chicago and other prominent cities. Their future home will be in Knoxville, Tenn.

The presents were lavish and elegant.

A marriage of much importance took place last evening at Trinity church. At 7:30 o'clock Miss Paralee Brotherton was wedded to Mr. George Irving Walker. Rev. Dr. Heidt performed the ceremony, which was beautiful and impressive. Miss Annie Brown acted as maid of honor, while the best man was Mr. Black Dunn.

The ushers were Mr. Will Brotherton, brother of the bride, Mr. Sid Heard, Mr. John Kelly, Mr. Eugene Dobbs and Mr. Will Davis. After the congratulations of many friends Mr. and Mrs. Walker left at 8:15 o'clock for the north and west. They will return to Atlanta about July 1st, and will go at once to their beautiful home on Washington Heights.

The bride was attired in a stylish traveling suit of brown cloth, richly trimmed in satin. Her hat was brown, trimmed straw, caught at the back with flowers and shaded green ribbon. She carried a bride's bouquet of delicate pink roses.

Miss Brown was dressed in white organdie, white chip hat and pink roses. The dress was elaborately made with pink satin, and she also wore pink gloves and shoes.

As Miss Paralee Brotherton, the bride, so wide and favorably known in the city. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brotherton, one of Atlanta's best known citizens. She is a blonde, petite and dainty in her style, and is a young lady who is a favorite with all.

Mr. Walker has for a long time been a trusted and capable employe of the Central railroad, and beside his business qualifications, is a man of great personal magnetism.

Many friends unite in wishing the happy couple hearty congratulations.

Marietta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Miss Laura Margaret Brumby, eldest daughter of Mr. James R. Brumby, of this city, to Mr. Lewis D. Hopple, of Atlanta, which took place tonight at St. James's church. The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of choicest roses, potted plants and quantities of graceful trailing vines. Long before the hour appointed it was filled with the eager, expectant faces of friends.

At 7 o'clock, promptly, the strains of "Lohengrien" were softly played by Mrs. H. G. Cole. The maid of honor, Miss Katherine Brumby, entered from the vestry room, followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Marie Cook, of New Orleans, and Isabel A. Paine, of Charleston, passed down the aisle, where they met the bride at the door. Then the bridal party proceeded to the altar in the following order: The ushers, Mr. J. Bolan Glover and Mr. A. Mongrin Brumby; Miss Payne and Dr. Ralph Smith, of Cartersville; Mr. Richard Simpson, of Marietta, then the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father. The officiating clergymen were Rev. C. T. A. Peise, of Marietta, and Rev. George E. Benedict, of Cartersville. The betrothal ceremony was read at the foot of the chancel and the bride and groom proceeded to the altar rail, where the ceremony was concluded.

One of the most impressive features of the ceremony was the nuptial hymn, "Oh, Perfect Love!" sang by the choir. The bride's dress was of heavy white corded silk, trimmed with a bertha of real lace, over a hundred years old. She wore a pendant of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bouquet was of brides' roses and maidens' hair fern, and the veil was held in place by a spray of the same.

The bridesmaids were attired in white organdies with berthas of the filmiest lace and ribbon and carried great clusters of La France roses.

After the marriage a reception was held at the home of the bride. The house was elaborately decorated. The reception hall was a bower of ferns, hothouse plants and American beauty roses, the drawing room being dressed with La France roses.

The decorations of the dining room and bride's table were of white and gold. All the rooms opened on a spacious veranda, which was enclosed, and where refreshments were served during the evening.

The bride and groom left on the 9 o'clock train for an extended tour through the west.

•••

Miss Willie Jones, of Cartersville, a niece of Rev. Sam Jones, arrived in the city a few days ago, and is the guest of Miss Brotherton, Forsyth and Whitehall streets. Miss Jones came to Atlanta to attend the Brotherton-Walker wedding.

•••

A gay party of friends went to Ponce de Leon last evening to indulge in a boat ride on the lakes. About fifteen couples were out and all had a most delightful time. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Respess, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Morse, Dr. Rhine, Misses Hattie Jones, Minnie Clarke, Cora Jones, Foote, Carrie Adkins, May Fowler, Messrs. John Adkins, R. Griffin, J. L. Johnson, T. R. Clarkson, J. R. Holmes, Henry H. Holmes, R. B. Bostick, Rob Sims, Joe Jones and Addison Clarke.

•••

Miss Lillie Orme has returned to the city after a pleasant visit to friends in Macon.

•••

The many friends of Mrs. Beatrice Dugar will be glad to know that, with her interesting children, she has located on North avenue. Mrs. Dugar is well known as Miss Beatrice Peck, daughter of the late Professor William Henry Peck. She has inherited from her father much of his magnetism and ready wit.

•••

Yesterday was a fete day in Marietta from the fact that there were two large church weddings in the little city, both marriages occurring at St. James church.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Marie Amina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henry Latimer, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles McMurray Hollingsworth.

At 7:30 o'clock Miss Laura Margaret Brumby was solemnly united to Mr. Lewis D. Hoppie.

Both young couples are well and favorably known in Atlanta, and have hosts of friends here who unite in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hoppie and Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth long lives of unalloyed happiness.

Gainesville, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Lucy M. Blackshear, of Gainesville, to Mr. William K. Mower, of Atlanta, which takes place at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday, June 22d.

The ceremony will occur at Grace Episcopal church, Gainesville, and will be a brilliant and auspicious event. The bride is the second and younger daughter of Mrs. P. L. Blackshear, and is a belle and beauty of Gainesville. Mr. Mower is a rising young business man of Atlanta and in their sweet anticipations of future happiness their friends join them heartily.

•••

Mr. J. M. Baker, his daughter, Miss Alice, and two sons left Tuesday night for the world's fair. They will be gone two weeks.

•••

Cards are out to the twentieth anniversary of the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. L. Holmes, of Rome, Ga. The reception will be held at the residence of Dr. Holmes at 8 o'clock on the evening of Monday, June 26th. Dr. and Mrs. Holmes were married in 1873, and their many friends all over the state will unite in congratulating them on the completion of these twenty years of their married life.

•••

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Glover left Atlanta last week to locate for some time in Decatur. Mr. and Mrs. Glover will visit Boston some time in August.

•••

Miss Daisy Beckwith, daughter of the late Bishop Beckwith, is spending a few days in the city on her way to Chicago.

•••

Mr. Sol Clarence Bloodworth, one of the most popular knights of the grip in Georgia, was in Atlanta several days of last week.

•••

Miss Madeline Wiley, who has been living for recent years in Kansas City, is visiting friends in Atlanta.

•••

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wey and family, and Miss Mary L. Wolf, left Wednesday for the northwest and the world's fair. At Detroit the party will be joined by Miss Leggett, a sister of Mrs. Wey and a celebrated teacher of that city. At Chicago they will stop at the Hotel Mecca, where they will be with Mr. and Mrs. A. McD. Wilson and several other Atlantians who have recently left, or soon will leave, for the White City.

•••

Miss Kathleen Holmes, of Montgomery, and Miss Lizzie Speck, of Birmingham, are visiting Miss Julia Manning, 82 West Cain street.

•••

Hapeville, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Last night an entertainment was given at the seminary hall by Mrs. Doane, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Betts and Miss Belle Hape. A large crowd attended and the exercises were a success in every particular. After the exercises refreshments were served and the evening passed pleasantly away. The proceeds go toward paying for a musical instrument for the school. This is the first entertainment of the season given by the ladies of Hapeville. They are of frequent occurrence during the summer months. None know better than the ladies of this town how to render such an occasion enjoyable.

•••

Dr. H. L. Wilson, who has been absent in Tennessee on business, for the past week is expected home in a few days.

Augusta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Mr. W. G. Addison and Miss Albertina Brenner were married this afternoon by Rev. J. T. Plunkett.

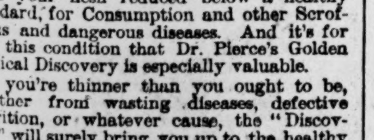

Miss Mary M. Laigle Herndon was wedded to Mr. W. Russell Sweet in St. John's church at 5 o'colck this afternoon.

•••

Mrs. Loulie M. Gordon and Miss Louise Bigby returned yesterday after a trip of several weeks in the north and west. During their pleasure trip they visited St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Niagara Falls, New York city, Albany, Troy, Philadelphia and Washington city. Both Mrs. Gordon and Miss Bigby are immensely popular and each has a fascinating charm peculiar to herself that is truly irresistable. Their acquaintances throughout the state will be glad to hear of their return. At the present moment Mrs. Gordon is at her summer home at Manchester.

Prolific Peaches.

Marietta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Mrs. J. D. Cunningham, of Atlanta, has 30,000 peach trees, on 200 acres of land, at McIvor's, in this county. They are the big yellow variety, and are expected to ripen in July. It is thought the yield will be 70,000 bushels, which, at $1 per bushel, will bring in $70,000. Crates are already on the ground for shipping.

YOU'RE AN EASY PREY, with your flesh reduced below a healthy standard, for Consumption and other Scrofulous and dangerous diseases. And it's for just this condition that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is especially valuable.

If you're thinner than you ought to be, whether from wasting diseases, defective nutrition, or whatever cause, the "Discovery" will surely bring you up to the healthy standard. By restoring the normal action of the deranged organs and functions, it arouses every natural source and means of nourishment. As a strength-restorer and flesh-builder, nothing like this medicine is known to medical science. Filthy Cod Liver Oil and all its disguised compounds can't compare with it.

It's sold on trial. That is, in everything that's claimed for it, if the "Discovery" ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

What offer could be more business-like?

SWEPT BY A GALE.

South Georgia Deluged and Devastated by a Furious Storm.

THE CITY OF MACON HEADED INTO IT.

Savannah's Streets Filled with Trees and Wires—The Melon and Pear Crops Ruined—A Church Destroyed.

Savannah, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—All south and southeast has been swept for the last ten hours by a fierce storm. Great damage has been done along the coast and southwest across the state beyond Valdosta and Thomasville.

The heaviest gale is blowing tonight that has ever been seen here in years. The storm is blowing fifty miles an hour off Tybee and it is thought a number of crafts going out and coming in have been endangered. The Boston steamship, City of Macon, which has just left, encountered the gale outside. The Baltimore ship got in before it struck, and reported no accidents encountered. Trees and wires are blown down all over the city and probably a great deal of damage is done that has not yet been reported.

A Church Blown Down.

Valdosta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—This city was visited by one of the most severe rain and wind storms ever known here. The storm commenced about 2 o'clock this afternoon with a misty rain and gradually grew worse until seven when it reached its height. Several hauses have been blown down and dwellings unroofed. Among the total wrecks is the negro Baptist church, which was a large two story frame building. The fire department bell tower was blown down, breaking the large bell. The streets are blocked with large oak shade trees. Iron awnings, signs and limbs from the trees are scattered over the city. Reports from along the line of the Georgia, Southern Florida and the Savannah, Florida and Western roads show that the storm is universal and great damage to the farms and other property is reported.

Thomasville Deluged.

Thomasville, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—This section was visited by one of the most severe rain and wind storms today that has been experienced in many years. Over five inches of water fell between nine this morning and four this afternoon and the low places in town were flooded. Throughout the whole rain the wind was very high and great damage was done to crops, especially to the melons and pears. Corn is also badly damaged and broken off. Several houses and many trees were blown down here. All the wires are down except one, and it is impossible to learn the extent of the storm or the damage.

Three Hundred Unhappy Excursionists.

Savannah, Ga., June 16.—2 a. m.—The wind has been blowing at a terrible rate since nine o'clock tonight, and since that hour over two inches of rain have fallen here. Trees all over the city have been blown down and small craft on the waters near here are supposed to have been damaged or wrecked. Crops around here are undoubtedly damaged, but to what extent cannot be determined tonight. The rain caused a washout on the Tybee road. The night train which contains 300 passengers, is now detained between two washouts and cannot move in either direction. Extras will be sent down to bring in the passengers on the delayed train, but they will not get into Savannah before daylight. No reports have been received here except from Valdosta and Thomasville where the storm is supposed to have been the hardest. Crops are damaged to considerable extent. Cotton and corn are blown down throughout southern Georgia in almost every section. It is impossible to ascertain the extent of the damage tonight.

CO-EDUCATION AT AUBURN.

The Experiment Has Been Thoroughly Satisfactory.

Auburn, Ala., June 15.—(Special.)—The annual commencement exercises at the Alabama Polytechnic institute at Auburn closed yesterday. The death on Sunday of a much beloved member of the faculty, Dr. Lupton, not only robbed the occasion of much of its interest and delight, but it spread a deep gloom over the whole community, preventing the entire usual programme of festivities. The presence of the empty chair with its drapery of crape on the rostrum—this with its festoons of mourning—added pathos and solemnity to the occasion.

The general exercises this year were of more than ordinary interest. Two sermons of Bishop Jackson on Sunday made very deep and profound impressions upon all. No more timely and touching words of eloquence and truth were ever heard here on such occasions, and this is saying a great deal for those sermons.

Monday brought the oratorical contest between the two literary societies. The medal was won by a "Wirk," Mr. Lee Ashcraft, an Alabamian. Tuesday the annual address before the societies was delivered by Mr. Thomas H. Clark, of Montgomery, an alumnus of the college. His subject related to historical Alabama and was handled with skill and mastery.

Tuesday evening's exercises were marked by the annual drill of the Cadets before the governor of the state. The first honors were won by the company commanded by Captain Edward Mell, of Georgia, son of the late Chancellor Mell. To Captain Mell the college authorities presented an elegant and costly saber. The presentation exercises were conducted by Miss Bessie Brown, the lovely and accomplished daughter of the president. Miss Brown made some very handsome and appropriate remarks on the occasion of delivering the sword to the winner. After the exercises Captain Mell gave a delightful luncheon to his comrades and members of his company.

Wednesday the graduating class of six spoke. The addresses were regarded as above the level of the usual graduating orations. The regular commencement address was delivered by Captain J. F. Johnston, of Birmingham. The subject related to the material resources of Alabama and how to develop a state into prosperity.

The Chair of Biology.

At the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the college Professor J. H. Stedman, late of Trinity college, of North Carolina, was elected to the chair of biology here. Dr. Stedman is a specialist of eminence in his profession. He succeeds Dr. Atkinson, who went from here to Cornell. Professor A. Dunstan, an alumnus of the college, was elected assistant in the physical labratory. Dr. Carey, of Canada, was elected professor in the department of physiology and veterinary surgery—a department recently created. Dr. Carey has recently completed a course of studies in Europe and comes here highly endorsed.

Several new features have been added to the course of instruction in this college. The institution is now open to young ladies who are over eighteen years of age and who can come prepared to enter at once the junior class. Several entered at the last session. Dr. Brown states that their presence has had an inspiring and benificent effect in the institution and he is now thoroughly in support of the idea of co-education of the sexes in the manner in which it is conducted here. The young lady students do not take part in the military drill, nor will they be given the degree of bachelor of arts. They will not be deprived, however, of the art or privilege of capturing bachelors after they leave the college.

The board of trustees have also decided to give eight annual scholarships to students who specially distinguish themselves in their classes here. These scholarships give free tuition and a premium of $250, the only condition required being that the alumni accepting the honor shall take the postgraduate course here and assist also as a tutor in departmental instruction when necessary.

The board of trustees will meet in Montgomery in September to elect a successor to Dr. Lupton in the chair of chemistry. At the next annual meeting in 1894 it is stated that the board will again reorganize the entire faculty. Whether there will be any changes or not remains to be seen, but the voice of Alabama has said that if there are any better teachers or professors in the land than those already here now there will be efforts made to secure them for this institution, for the determination is to make this the very best educational center of its character in all the country.

IN THE HILL CITY.

The Baseball Fever Has Appeared in Malignant Form.

Rome, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Rome is catching the baseball fever in an aggravated form, and the first of a series of strictly amateur games will be played here tomorrow. Cartersville furnished the opposing team and a rattling good game is expectel. Cave Spring plays here Saturday.

Minor Mention.

The closing exercises of the public schools were held at the opera house tonight.

The indications are that Mr. Stanton will be greeted by a crowded house at his reading here next Tuesday night.

Messrs. George and Pennington Nixon have returned from a visit to the world's fair.

Miss Rosa Plumb and Miss Pet Nevin returned yesterday from a pleasant visit to Atlanta.

Aabout three hundred Romans went up to Chattanooga today on the Odd Fellows' excursion.

TROUBLE IS BREWING.

Competing Railroads Do Not Agree on a Differential.

Savannah, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The transportation companies here are making a hard kick over the removal of the 11 cents differential on export rates on cotton to south Atlantic ports, which has heretofore kept these ports on a par with those of the north Atlantic states.

The railroad companies here believe the Richmond and Danville road is behind the whole movement and that it is making an effort to build up its trade through Norfolk and West Point, Va., at the expense of the systems bringing cotton to Savannah. The Central, Savannah, Florida and Western, Charleston and Savannah and other systems contributing to south Atlantic ports will make a great fight for the old rates, which were the only thing that kept these ports on a parity with those on the north Atlantic coast. Shipping rates from this point being higher than from Virginia ports, this difference of 11 cents is necessary to afford the same facilities for shipping from here. If the Southern Railway and Steamship Association, now in session in New York, refuses to re-establish the old rate, the railroad officials here say these transportation companies will probably withdraw from the association and fight the question out by cutting rates to south Atlantic ports against the transportation companies contributing to those of the north Atlantic.

At Terrell College.

Decherd, Tenn., June 15.—(Special.)—The commencement exercises of Terrell college have delighted all who have witnessed them.

"The district school" given on Monday was amusing. The programme offered by the "Henry Grady" society on Tuesday was especially good. It included the "Roman Valentine" recitation, by Miss Alva O'Neill, of Dalton, Ga.; essays by Miss Luck and Miss Milan, both from Georgia.

A farce of two acts, rendered by Messrs. Overall and Edwards, of Tennessee, Misses O'Neill, of Georgia, Miss Barrett, of Tennessee, deserved special mention. The address by Dr. G. A. Lofton, of Nashville, ville, was rendered in the finest manner.

This society has a fine library and well furnished society halls.

The Matt Estill society held its annual exercises. The address was by Captain Frazier, of Chattanooga.

ATLANTA, GA., June 16, 1893.

A Great Orator.

The address of Hon. W. J. Bryan, the eloquent young Nebraska congressman, whose famous speech on the tariff in the last session of congress challenged the attention of the whole country, was a magnificent exposition of democratic principles, and the enthusiasm with which it was received showed clearly that the speaker had the sympathy of his Atlanta audience.

The address was listened to by fully one thousand persons and not a man heard it without being impressed with the force of the logic of the speaker, who for two hours held the undivided attention of his audience.

The speech was devoted chiefly to the discussion of three points. First, tariff reform; second, the income tax, and third, bimetallism, every one of which he advocated in terms of the most profound eloquence, impressing the democracy of each demand.

On the money question he was particularly clear, and many persons in the audience, who were doubting as to the silver question, left fixed in their views as to the imperative duty of the democratic party to redeem its promises and to bring about honest bimetallism in which both money-metals will be privileged alike in the matter of coinage at a just ratio.

The Young Men's Democratic League is to be congratulated at having brought Mr. Bryan to Atlanta. The speech is one which should be heard wherever democrats are in doubt as to the duty of the hour.

Mr. Bryan, though only thirty years of age, enters his second term in congress with the attention of the whole country fixed on him, and if he does not come up to the national expectation it will be for no lack of eloquence or ability as a persuasive orator and ready debator.

Clews on the Extra Session.

The announcement that an extra session of congress will be called for September causes Mr. Henry Clews to take a more hopeful view of the business situation. He writes:

> Thus far the effect of this official intervention has been not only negative, in staying the further progress of the prevailing demoralization, but also positive in restoring confidence in a considerable degree. The effect in the specially disturbed districts of the west is especially important. At Chicago there has been a complete cessation of the run of depositors upon banks and savings banks, and business there is resuming a comparatively normal aspect.

If the prospect of an extra session three months earlier than the regular time for the assembling of congress has such a good effect, why not make the outlook still brighter by calling our lawmakers together some time in the early summer?

In a single year the market value of securities regularly listed on the New York stock exchange has shrunk $700,000,000, and the wheat and corn crops have suffered a shrinkage in value of $250,000,000. This is generally attributed to the uncertainty in which the policy of the new administration has been thus far involved. Why prolong the uncertainty through seventy-five or ninety days? Why not check the shrinkage of values by calling the extra session at once and redeeming the pledges of the democratic platform?

Badly Mistaken.

Editor Murat Halstead, in his last Herald letter says that the utterances of Mr. Cleveland are exactly what the democrats and populists are in the habit of denouncing as "Wall street talk." Then, he goes on to say:

> And is there not a hand held out to the republicans to be shaken on the understanding that if help can be found in the republican party to carry the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law there will be no hurry to repeal the McKinley law, for after all the "only menace" of our welfare is not protection or reciprocity, but the paying of gold for silver and the meddlesomeness of the silver cranks?

If Editor Halstead means to intimate that Mr. Cleveland expects to induce a sufficient number of republicans to cooperate with the anti-silver democrats in repealing the Sherman law unconditionally, with the understanding that the policy of protection in the shape of the McKinley law will be permitted to remain undisturbed, he is badly mistaken.

Tariff reform was the leading issue in the last national campaign, and Mr. Cleveland has been its zealous and uncompromising champion from first to last. The most positive and unequivocal pledge that the democrats ever gave is embodied in the revenue tariff plank of their platform, and it is impossible to imagine a contingency in which they would subordinate it to any other question.

This pledge will have to be redeemed without unnecessary delay. Financial emergencies come and go. They are temporary. But this oppressive evil of the robber tariff has throttled the masses and drained their pockets for fully a generation, and the first duty of a democratic administration is to get rid of it. The assumption that our leading tariff reformer will join a coalition of anti-silver republicans and democrats in unconditionally repealing the Sherman law with the understanding that the McKinley law shall remain substantially unchanged would be monstrous were it not so farcical.

Editor Halstead will see the extra session wipe out the last vestige of a protective tariff, and the silver question will be disposed of on its merits without throwing any sop to the republicans, and without entering into any disastrous and humiliating bargain with them.

A Barbarous Solution.

The Rochester Union and Advertiser quotes approvingly The Constitution's protest against the suggestion of ex-Senator Ingalls that the negro should be deported to Africa.

Our contemporary says that "the solution of the negro problem offered by Mr. Ingalls is a barbrous one, as the shipment of our American negroes to Africa would consign them to either death or savagery.

For about forty years negroes have been going from this country to Liberia. They have met nothing but disaster. They are not fitted to stand the climate of the west coast of Africa. Long residence in America has made the blacks unable to stand the climate of the dark continent. The negroes who have survived the fever in Liberia have lapsed into the low morality and fetichism of the natives.

The Rochester paper rightly says that America is the only place for the American negro. The whites of the south are standing by the negroes, giving them employment, protecting them in their rights and paying for their education. Among such friendly neighbors the blacks will be happier and more prosperous than they could ever be in Africa. The idea of banishing or deporting them is simply barbarous, and Mr. Ingalls must know that it will not be seriously considered by any class of our people.

A Woman's Severe Judgment.

The New York World recently published the views of two prominent men and an equally prominent woman concerning the Borden case.

The two men—one a minister and the other a lawyer—pronounced Lizzie Borden innocent. The woman declared the prisoner guilty because she is without a conscience and because she has many of the typical traits of the Puritan nature.

Now, how in the name of Great Scott did The World's lady contributor find out that Miss Borden has no conscience? This remarkable discovery was not made by either the divine or the lawyer who looked into the case and expressed their views.

It would be interesting to pursue the matter to ascertain whether a majority of women believe the prisoner guilty, and whether a majority of men believe her innocent.

Bicycles and Pedestrians.

The recent accident on Wheat street, in which a bicycle injured a lady pedestrian, will draw public attention to similar collisions reported from other cities.

The Boston Transcript says that the increase in bicycle accidents this year is alarming. It declares that the combination of swift riding and no brakes is responsible for 50 per cent of the accidents. The Chicago Tribune says:

> The bicycle terror has become so threatening in New York that police interposition was required. That city has an ordinance placing all "vehicles propelled by manumotive or pedomotive power" under the same regulation as to speed which applies to vehicles drawn by animals. They must not exceed six miles an hour on the open streets nor four miles an hour at the crossings. Police Superintendent Byrnes in an order to police captains informs them that many complaints are made of fast and reckless running by bicycles, and he instructs them to "take prompt measures to enforce the laws and ordinances prohibiting this illegal and dangerous practice."

We do not think it likely that bicycles will injure many pedestrians in Atlanta. Our streets are not overcrowded; the police will interfere to check reckless riding, and the citizens when they are crossing a street generally keep their eyes open. The bicyclers object as much to running over pedestrains as the latter object to being run over, and this state of feeling will make such accidents very rare indeed.

Railroad Earnings.

Many business men in all parts of the country were pleasantly surprised to learn that the railroad earnings for May made a good showing.

Not only did the May receipts of the railroads exceed those of last year for the same month by 9 per cent, but the receipts for the whole year exceed those of last year by 4 per cent.

This is a splendid showing, and it is emphasized by the fact that the earnings of the railroads for the first week in June show an increase. The following is a statement giving the amount of railroad earnings in excess of the figures for the first week of last June:

	Increase.
Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis	4,272
Evansville and Indianapolis	1,128
Evansville and Terre Haute	1,616
Evansville and Richmond	953
International and Great Northern	12,588
Peoria, Decatur and Evansville	1,569
Chicago and Ohio River	148
Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis	10,567
Louisville, New Albany and Chicago	7,001
Norfolk and Western	32,499
New York, Ontario and Western	9,118
Cincinnati, Jackson and Mackinaw	1,444
Texas and Pacific	5,243
Eastern Illinois	5,700

No decrease is reported from any road.

Now, as past experience has proved that railroad earnings are the most reliable tests of the financial and business situation, this exhibit is especially gratifying. The earnings of the railroads make it plain that the business of the country is steadily improving. It is true that we have had a scare, but it has merely exploded some pretentious bubbles, and confidence is rapidly reviving.

Railroad prosperity means general prosperity. It cannot exist without the brisk exchange and movement of products, and it is needless to say that all this means improving industrial and commercial conditions.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Some people seem to be afraid that the successful revolutionists in Nicaragua will tear up the canal and cut it into sashes for their generals.

"Missouri at the World's Fair," is the title of a handsomely illustrated volume. Just wait until we get out our pamphlet, "Georgia at Home."

Will there be war in Europe? Well, do you think that she is maintaining 22,000,000 men under arms because she is in favor of peace and brotherly love?

It does not necessarily speak well for a city to say that few copies of The Public Gazette circulate there. The people may be so busy talking scandal that they have no time to read it.

Money is drifting from Wall street to the south and west. It will drift back again. Wall street holds a string tied to every dollar in the country. We need state banks that would issue a currency not easily controlled by Wall street.

The average American bank would never fail if our bankers had horse sense. In 1890 when the Bank of England was in a tight, the Bank of France loaned it $15,000,000. The money did not have to be used at all. Recently the New York banks materially aided the banks of Chicago. If they would always pursue this policy there would never be any failures.

A Topeka special stating that the populist attorney general of Kansas has decided that greenbacks are taxable, brings out the following communication in The St. Louis Republic: "Mr. Attorney General Little may be a pretty good lawyer, but evidently he has not given the federal statutes relating to the loans and currency a careful examination or he would not have declared that greenbacks are subject to taxation. If Mr. Little will take down his United States statutes and turn to section 3701, he will find that it reads as follows: 'Section 3701. All stocks, bonds, treasury notes and other obligations of the United States shall be exempt from taxation by or under state or municipal or local authority.' Not only are treasury notes—greenbacks—exempt from taxation under the above section, but national bank notes are also exempt by it, vide section 5413 of the United States revised statutes."

LIGHTLY TOUCHED.

Elmira Advertiser: Can any one mention any new industries which have been transplanted to this country since March 4, 1893?

Washington Post: In looking for the unreasonable and unexpected, the democratic editors made the mistake of overlooking the procrastination of the democratic party.

Springfield Republican: Since the decision of the United States court at Chicago against Sunday opening of the fair, has anybody heard the other fellows threaten to boycott that enterprise?

Cleveland Plain Dealer: John Wannamaker, who holds $5,000 of the stock, says that he doesn't want any dividends if they have to be earned by the Columbian fair being kept open on Sunday. Don't worry, John; you won't get any.

Birmingham Age-Herald: The rush of women to see the Borden trial, the rush at the Earl of Craven's marriage, and to see the Infanta Eulalie, indicate that the northern women can't control their curiosity. It sounds strange to a southerner's ears.

New York Advertiser: No amount of diplomatic palavering can disguise the fact that Mr. Cleveland has studiously and purposely treated Messrs. Hill, Murphy and Sheehan with contemptuous indifference. And there can be just as little doubt as to the manner in which this sort of thing will be received by the regulars. They will resent it even if they lose the state by doing so.

Richmond State: All this banking strength in the south has been readily accounted for on the ground of conservatism. The south has accumulated wealth during the past fifteen years and the financial forces in this section can never be panicked. The public appreciate the solid condition of southern affairs. Hence the absolute confidence in southern banks. Hence, too, the prestige that the southern banks have with the banks in New York.

TALK ABOUT ATLANTA.

Savannah Press: Atlanta is moving in the right way to secure manufactories. It has organized an association to assist new enterprises.

Rome Tribune: Just now Atlanta is very hungry for factories. The way Atlanta gets what she wants is sometimes most always a caution.

Calhoun Times: One would hardly think so, yet it is true, nevertheless, that Atlanta does more business than the cities of Macon, Augusta and Savannah combined. A sure way of getting at this is a comparison of the amount of business done by the postoffice of each city, in the figures given by The Atlanta Constitution.

Columbus Enquirer-Sun: Columbus people don't like to imitate Atlanta or any other place, but there is a movement now on foot in the Gate City that is worthy of imitation especially by Columbus. We mean the encouragement that is being given to manufacturing interests. Atlanta is beating down all obstacles and she will come to the front in that line as she does in any other line whenever she takes a notion. The unanimity of Atlanta people on anything for the advancement of Atlanta is the most striking characteristic of that city, and is one eminently worthy of example. They don't get at loggerheads up there and fight each other when the city's progress is involved. Jealousy is ruled out under such circumstances and everybody gets hold and pulls, while those crowded out in the front go behind and push.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

Rome Tribune: There are indications from every section that the outlook for good times is growing brighter.

Savannah News: It is gratifying to know that at last Savannah's postoffice is about to be constructed—on paper.

Waycross Herald: The Herald has heard nothing further from the Princess Eulalie in regard to her proposed visit to Waycross. She may be here later. It is thought she is saving the best for the last.

Marietta Journal: The law that takes a man from his business and makes him serve as a juror in a "justice" court and allows him only 25 cents if he makes a verdict, seems to be an "injustice" to said juror that ought to be remedied.

Athens Banner: It makes our democratic blood boil when we tell it, but we tell it and give it the unmeasured condemnation it deserves. Citizens of Athens, white people, have highly recommended the negro carriers to Postmaster O'Farrell, and while not asking their retention, have certainly conveyed the impression that such was their desire.

Augusta Chronicle: What is the matter? The answer is that there is not enough money for the volume of business of the country, and the prosperous times of yore will not come again until there is more money in actual circulation. This is not idle theory, but is the wisdom of the master minds of the ages.

LIFE IN GEORGIA.

Blue Ridge Post: Didn't the grand jury go for the saloon? What will we do for whisky? Guess we will have to go back in the mountains and get some "wild cat."

Wrightsville Headlight: There are twenty-one widows, six widowers, five old maids and thirty girls in this town. The foregoing epitomized census report has been furnished us by a man who is seventy-five years old, marriageable—in fact he's "on the anxious bench."

Jonesboro Enterprise: Times are too hard for the fathers of Jonesboro to be taxed by their daughters for a trip to Cumberland this summer. As a substitute for a dip in "old ocean" we advise them to get out their old bathing suits and take a dive in Williamson's pond. It may not prove quite as enjoyable as a sea bath but it will answer every purpose.

Camilla Clarion: We had heard that the late war was over, but as we saw a car pass through our place the other day labeled "Georgia melons" we concluded that possibly the shipper had decided that, as he could not go in person to defend his country he would just send "'em" a car of melons that would "do 'em up brown." Won't the doctors have a jubilee when they see her come in?

JUST FROM GEORGIA.

A Song for the "Seekers."

There ain't much use in wishin'—
Though a feller's bound to wish;
But—when Grover goes a-fishin',
How'd you like to be a fish?

When you got one look
At his great, big hook,
Now, wouldn't you jes' let him
Haul you gently out the brook?

There ain't no use in gruntin',
Or in sayin' of a word;
But—when Grover goes a-huntin',
How'd you like to be a bird?

Don't you think you'd try
For to ketch his eye,
An' let him shoot an' wing you,
An' make you into pie?

The Infanta in Chicago.

Master of Ceremonies—We have here, your majesty, the finest works of art—

Eulalie—I have observed them. Pass the sausage!

Editor Stovall, having returned home from his northwestern pilgrimage, has resumed the discussion of the silver dollar—the one that is "worth sixty-five cents."

A southwest Georgia postmaster complains that he has been trying to resign for six months, but that the government won't accept his resignation. It doesn't believe he's in earnest; that's what's the matter.

The Race Problem West.

The question now, in Illinois,
Is racial—an' no funnin';
They'll never lynch a nigger
While the nigger beats 'em runnin'!

The Washington Gazette has an able editorial page, and is otherwise one of the best of Georgia weekly newspapers.

The 'Possum Trot Gazette is making great headway in Floyd county. Its editor recently attended a blackberry festival and won the first prize—a can that will hold a quart.

Watchful to the Last.

"I hear the editor died with his boots on?"
"Yes; he knew the town too well to pull 'em off."

Editor Harry Brown's Southern Sportsman is receiving many deserved complimentary notices from the state press. It is winning its way and is becoming very popular.

See the Tax Later.

The editors want the income tax,
Whose merits they have rehearsed;
But some of the boys who are making a noise
Want to tackle the income first!

The Augusta Chronicle thinks that some of the banks would do well to get a Georgia editor to swear to their circulation.

The editorial page of the current issue of The Statesboro Star will repay perusal.

Crawford Complimented.

The Athens Banner, in its account of the commencement exercises at the Lucy Cobb institute in that city, says:

"The medals were delivered in a bright and appropriate speech by Mr. Remsen Crawford, of Atlanta, who is well known as one of the brightest young men in Georgia. Mr. Crawford's effort last night was one of the most brilliant of his career, and his friends congratulated him enthusiastically, and were more than ever convinced that his future as an orator as well as a journalist is a bright one."

GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

Gubernatorial booms are now quoted quiet, but the market is still very well supplied.

Politics has begun to boil in Washington county. They will have an election for a tax receiver soon, to fill the unexpired term of the late officer, who died some time ago.

The Statesboro Star says "it's a long way off, but F. G. duBignon will be the next United States senator from Georgia."

The Statesboro Star, noticing the arrival of Congressman Lester in Washington, says the democrats of the first are now anxiously waiting "to hear something drop."

The south Georgia papers are still making a vigorous "kick" in the matter of government patronage, the general opinion, as expressed, being that south Georgia is entirely ignored.

The south Georgia newspapers insist on keeping Hon. Henry G. Turner before the people as a candidate for United States senator. Mr. Turner, however, has not committed himself, so far.

Legislative candidates seem hard to move in some counties, although the editors are warning them to take time by the forelock and announce.

The Rockdale Banner, speaking of Colonel Atkinson and the Berlin matter, says:

"This will be quite an honor indeed. As it seems to us that considerable knowledge of the German language would be important in a consul general, the appointment of Colonel Atkinson, who we suppose knows very little German, would be quite complimentary to his general qualifications."

SPARKS FROM GEORGIA.

Marietta's new library building is assuming proportions and it is expected to be completed by September first.

Statesboro's liquor law is now under fire, and its constitutionality will be tested in the supreme court.

The bicycle riders of Marietta are talking of having a tournament some time during the summer. Valuable prizes will be offered.

A white woman, who was tramping through the state, was recently arrested for drunkenness on the streets of Dawson.

An Americus fruit dealer recently discovered a tarantula in a bunch of bananas. Several of these insects were killed in Americus a short time ago.

The Rochelle Solid South says that Wilcox county can now boast a live lord. It is Lord Beresford, who is serving his six year sentence at the Gress convict camp in that county.

Ten years ago an old Dougherty county negro dreamed that he found a pot of gold in his field. It deranged his mind, and since that time every night he can be seen digging for the buried treasure.

Melons will soon be going north and west by the train load from the territory south of Americus. There are 30,000 acres planted in watermelons in Georgia for the foreign market, which at an average of two acres to the car, means 15,000 car loads of melons.

MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP.

Marietta Journal: "Turn the rascals out," and put none but democrats on guard.

Albany News and Advertiser: To the victor belongs the spoils. Then let the negro go out of the postal service. The people of the south want a clean sweep.

Statesboro Star: We've got cheek enough to repeat that the president ought to ask for charges to be made against every republican officeholder in the United States.

FRESH FROM THE FARM.

Jonesboro News: The farmers of this section are now harvesting their small grain crops, and we are glad to learn that the yield will be larger than was expected a month ago.

Vienna Progress: The planters have made their crops this year with comparatively little cost. If the rains do not cause considerable expense in cultivation for the balance of the season they can better afford to sell the next crop cheap than the last. They are not expecting over 6 cents per pound for their cotton crop.

Millen Herald: We are going back to old times in Dixie, and by and by we will have plenty. R. J. Ellison from three acres of average land, has harvested thirty bushels of wheat. Andrew Herrington, in the same neighborhood on the Beaver Dam creek, garnered fifteen bushels from one acre. And we hear that Mr. William Chandler, Sr., is so encouraged from the yield from a ten-acre field that he will at once put in his mill improvements for making first-class flour.

SOUTHERN NEWS NOTES.

A Texas man was driven insane by swallowing a live frog while drinking from a spring.

A snake that weighed three hundred pounds, and had one hundred and fifty-six rattles was killed in Benton county, Arkansas.

The Virginia Wheel Club has arranged for a grand race meeting at Roanoke on June 17th and 19th.

The Anniston, Ala., News is opening up on some of the officials in that place who are harrassing the people in a general manner. It says one is an ex-convict from Georgia.

It is reported that there are quite a number of people in the vicinity of Russelville, Ala., who are almost on the verge of starvation on account of the closing of the mines in that section.

Camden is one of the best towns in Arkansas. In the past five years no business failure has occurred there, the liabilities of which exceeded $2,500.

Mr. John L. Herrick, of Salisbury, N. C., is ninety years old, hale and hearty, and tips the beam at two hundred and thirty pounds. He expects to beat the record for old men in North Carolina.

At Haysville, N. C., the little daughter of Mr. J. B. Mease found a Spanish dollar dated in the year 1816. Mr. Mease's little girl found the dollar where once stood an Indian cabin. It is thought that more old coins are buried in the same locality.

The Florida orange crop this year will exceed that of any previous year. A conservative estimate places the crop at five million boxes, of which at least four million boxes will be marketed.

One of the largest mining enterprises yet introduced in north Arkansas is now being established on Warner's creek, Marion county. Fifty men were put to work last Tuesday and it is proposed to increase the force as rapidly as accommodations for the men can be secured. The largest crusher ever brought to Arkansas will be put in, and all the drills used in the mines will be driven by compressed air.

HOG AND HOMINY.

Statesboro Star: The high prices of bacon this spring should be a warning to all who can to make their hog and hominy at home hereafter.

Sandersville Progress: When it takes two pounds of cotton to buy one pound of meat it is time to adopt the plan of raising an unlimited supply of hogs. This is a matter which the government cannot control; but everybody can decide for their own interest and profit.

Dawson News: Mr. E. S. Pinkston has five pigs only six months old which weigh one hundred and forty pounds each. He raised them in his lot with but little expense. This shows that all farmers can raise their meat if they go at it right.

STAND BY THE PLATFORM.

Savannah Press: The Sparta Ishmaelite does not intend to follow any leader into antagonism toward the democratic platform. That is the dictate of policy and principle. The Ishmaelite is right.

Sandersville Progress: If the democratic party will do its whole duty no man now living will see it go out of power. That duty is to enact into law the principles embodied in the national democratic platform.

Marietta Journal: The democrats must carry out their pledges. It is not expected that they will in one brief session undo all the rascally legislation foisted upon the country for the last thirty years by the republican party, but they can make a beginning and enact such legislation as will loosen the thumb-screw of oppression, and lighten the burdens of the common people and put some of them on shoulders that have been resting a long time.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

Calhoun Times: The decision of Mr. Cleveland to call an extra session of congress in September meets with general approval. It's quite a time to wait, but let there be plenty of it when it does come off.

Savannah Press: Better times are directly ahead. The general impression is that the crisis has passed. President Cleveland's determination to call an extra session of congress has infused new confidence into the business public.

Campbell Standard: An extra session of congress should be called at once, if anything can be done, why not do it now, that we may enjoy the benefit of it. The democratic party should remember that life is short and that we want the relief while we live. "Never put off until tomorrow what can be done to day."

SILVER IN GEORGIA.

Thomasville Times: Georgia bankers demand the repeal of the Sherman law. And about everybody else does also.

Millen Herald: Free coinage of silver and a tariff for revenue only—this is what our country needs. The democratic party stands committed to both.

Butler Herald: We have had four years of rule under an administration which endeavored to set up the single gold standard, as we have already stated. That has brought us to a point from which we cannot take many steps on the same line without bringing disaster and ruin upon every branch of business except that of the money kings.

Statesboro Star: Free coinage of silver on a parity with gold was the free coinage plank of the democratic platform. This does not mean that the government shall coin every 65 cents worth of silver bullion that the western miner brings into 100 cents, as some of our people's party friends are trying to impress on the people. But there shall be 100 cents worth in a dollar.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Voice from South Georgia.

Editor Constitution—You are pleasing the people of south Georgia with your editorials on immigration. We people down this way have a profound faith in agriculture as the basis of wealth. From this point south the country is new and undeveloped. Population is spare and land is plentiful.

Mr. C. J. Haden, a gentleman who is well known in south Georgia, is hitting the nail on the head in his magazine and other articles, and he is working hard in other ways on the same lines. In the section tributary to Cordele we have a vast resource in yellow pine forests. This valuable commodity is, however, being rapidly removed by means of huge saw mills, preparing for market many hundred thousand feet per day.

Now, the question which agitates south Georgians is this: What will be done with the lands when the timber is removed? The question is pressed more and more upon the people as these cleared areas widen and many acres of fertile lands are left ready for the farmer's hands. The answer is, plainly, that we need more people. You have struck the key note when you advocate the encouragement of the immigration of thrifty farmers. We need this class of immigrants. No other class would prosper here, as the wealth of south Georgia consists in its soil.

The problem is, to some extent, solving itself. Many new farms have been started near here this year. Most of the new farmers are pursuing money-making principles, and are succeeding beyond their expectations. The productiveness of the lands has been amply tested. People who have farmed in Dooly county for twenty-five years, as well as those who have recently ventured into the business, say that they can raise almost anything and in greater abundance. Fruit, garden produce, grain, cotton, sugarcane, tobacco and many other minor products are raised here with as much success as anywhere on the globe.

The lands can be bought cheap from the mill men and others. The best bring from $3 to $10 per acre, a mere trifle for lands which yield so abundantly to proper cultivation. The farmer who now tills high-priced lands in the bleak northwest or the foreign husbandman who labors under unfavorable and unhappy conditions would do well to move to Georgia, where the climate, the soil and the laws combine to bring fortune to him who siezes it. Yours very truly,

T. J. BROOKS.

Cordele, Ga., June 13, 1893.

IS ADA REHAN BOW-LEGGED?

If Not, Why Do Women Giggle at the Statue of Which She Was the Model?

From The Chicago Inter Ocean.

It has been frequently noticed by men who visited Montana's exhibit at the world's fair since the silver statue of Justice was unveiled, that whenever there was a party of women without escorts around the statue they invariably got to laughing at a great rate, as if they had made some great discovery, which was just too good to let the horrid men into the secret of.

Yesterday, however, in an unguarded moment, one of these unconscious critics let the cat out of the bag. There were four or five of them standing around the statue gazing at her classic pose, when one of them, who had been looking intently at the ankles of Justice for several minutes, suddenly burst out with: "Oh, girls, she's bow-legged—just look!"

There was a gathering of heads in one place and a craining of necks and much raising and lowering of eyes, as if trying to mentally follow the direction taken by Justice's ankle where it was lost under the folds of her toga. Then there was a unanimous nodding of heads and a great deal of giggling, as if the discovery constituted one of the rarest jokes ever heard of.

A careful survey of the lines of Justice's right ankle confirms the criticisms passed upon her by the women. There can be no question that, taking the original departure of the ankle from the foot upon which it rests and extending it in a straight line, the upper end would leave the main trunk of the statue somewhere about three feet above the pedestal, and, if further projected would strike the roof of the mines building, about one hundred and fifty feet north of the point immediately over her head. The only possible way for her ankle to reach the main trunk of her body after starting out the direction it has is to describe a sort of horseshoe bend somewhere about the knee joint.

GRAU'S OPERA COMPANY.

"Martha" to the Largest House of the Season.

The production of "Martha" last evening by the Grau company was in every way worthy of the enthusiasm evoked. As predicted, it was the strongest bill of the company. Edith Mason was seen at her best, as, in fact, all the soloists in the cast. She not only sang the score to perfection, but acted the part, showing a keen perception of the requirements of the role. Miss Gaillard is an artist and an earnest worker. She never seems to tire of improving her role. She is a natural born little actress and assumes all roles equally well.

Mr. Persse was simply grand in the role of Lionel. Francis Gaillard filled the role of Plunkett well, showing his unusual gift of acting to good advantage. Mr. Clayton's part of the sheriff was made the most of by that gentleman and comedian. Mr. Felch was as good as he had a chance to be in the part of Tristan. The rest of the company was capable and satisfactory.

Especially to be complimented are the choruses, which were given with a strength that was astonishing.

Tonight that great comic opera "Fatinitza" will be given. Saturday matinee "Martha" will be repeated and Saturday night closes the engagement with "Clover."

AT THE EDGEWOOD.

An Evening of Opera is Greatly Enjoyed by a Big House.

"The Grand Duchess" was sung before a big house at the Edgewood theater last night. The opera has about arrived at that stage when it is enjoyed by all, so beautifully and evenly is it sung. "The Grand Duchess" has so far been an unquestioned success, financially and otherwise. Its music is heard upon the streets as well as at the theater, which goes to show the popularity of the work.

Last night Miss Dressler captivated the entire house by her clever rendition of the drinking song in the second act. Mr. Gurville is as popular as ever as Private Fritz. Mr. Newborough does Baron Puck very acceptably. Newborough is liked by everybody that sees him. Mr. Mathews does a turn that creates much laughter. Miss McIntyre, as Prince Paul, is proving an unmistakable favorite in this city. She sings and acts with all abandon, and that is everything to an audience. Mr. Pearson, who has been indisposed for the past two days, will assume his former role of General Boum tonight. "The Grand Duchess" will be sung at a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

Facts About an Income Tax.

From The New York World.

Several gross misrepresentations in regard to the operation of the income tax in this country have been made by the organs of coupon-clippers and large landlords.

The statement that there was a popular outcry against the law when it was in force is not true. Those whose duty required them to observe its operation most closely favored its continuance as a permanent feature in our fiscal system. The secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue warmly supported the recommendation of Special Commissioner David A. Wells in favor of its retention. After a protracted debate the senate passed the bill repealing it by a majority of only one. On the vote in the house to take up the senate bill the motion was lost by a majority of one against it, but on the last day of the session the law was repealed without taking the yeas and nays.

There never has been any question in regard to the attitude of the democratic party on the subject. Its leaders in and out of congress have favored the imposition of taxes upon luxuries and indulgences, and have demanded that incomes be taxed as well as articles of consumption upon which the poor must pay the same as the rich.

The next congress must pass upon the issue. The existing deficit in the revenues must be met, as well as that which will probably result from a reform of the tariff. Shall the increased tax be imposed entirely on the necessaries of the masses, or shall a part be exacted from the surplus of the rich? There should be no doubt as to the answer of a democratic congress to this question.

The Plutocratic Rally.

From The St. Louis Republic.

The question in this country which involves all other questions is whether it shall be governed by its 65,000,000 people or by the few thousand plutocrats who own the bulk of its wealth and who, by virtue of such ownership, claim the right to rule.

That was the question in 1890 and again in 1892 when the people rose and, as they thought, shook off the yoke.

That is the question now when the plutocracy has rallied and has massed its forces to snatch victory from defeat.

That will be the question until the sovereignty of the people is vindicated and democracy is asserted against plutocracy.

The millionaires of America are moved by a strange infatuation to believe that their money is omnipotent. They had no sooner seen that they were routed by the onslaught of the masses of the democratic party than they set to work in the democratic party itself to capture control of the organization which had been so used against them as to show how formidable it is to unjust privilege.

They will never succeed and they are only making it worse for themselves at the final settlement, but they are now in high feather at their imagined success.

To Enlarge the Circulation of Banks.

From The Baltimore Sun.

If we assume that it is the duty of the government to provide the people with money, something can be said in favor of the old proposition to permit the national banks to issue notes to 95 per cent, or even to the par, of the government bonds that secure their notes. Existing law allows them to 90 per cent of the par of their bonds, but the solidity of the bonds as security would make a larger issue of notes equally safe. The amount of national bank notes out-standing is $171,000,000. The amount is less than it was a few years ago and diminishes as the government pays its bonded debt. When the bonds disappear the national bank notes, under existing law, will disappear too. If the banks were allowed to issue notes to the par of their bonds the issue would be increased temporarily by some $15,000,000 or $18,000,000. Such an increase, if coupled with a repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state bank notes, might be accepted with favor even by the numerous opponents of the national banking system. Many persons are of the opinion that under a system of national inspection and with suitable provision for security state bank notes will ultimately take the place of national bank notes and be as good. That view, however, is not, it must be confessed, the view generally held by business men.

WALKS AND TALKS.

"Colonel Ainesworth, chief of the pension building, which fell last Saturday, is a very overbearing man," said a gentleman yesterday, who has known him for a long time. "I have known of the strong feeling against him, and so has every one in Washington, for years, but somehow he held on. His men hoped that he would be dropped or superceded, but he had a pull somewhere and never was disturbed. His men thoroughly detested him. Ainesworth seemed to regard the employes of the department as so many wild animals. A friend of mine, who is employed there, used to often refer to his associates as Ainesworth's menagerie. Discharged men would often hit at Ainesworth through the newspapers, but he always took a lofty position as though he would not deign to notice them.

"It is sincerely hoped in Washington, I know, that this may result in the removal of the head of this department. Had there been a humane, considerate man at the head of this branch the accident last week would never have occurred. Thompson, who made the speech against Ainesworth, and was one of the leaders in the movement to lynch him, is a fine speaker and you can set it down that he scored Ainesworth when he spoke. Thompson expresses himself vigorously and must have flayed the unpopular chief. It is a fact that the men were afraid to complain about the condition of the building, fearing that they might be discharged. Ainesworth was just the sort of man to treat an employe that way."

"I think it is nothing but the fulfillment of duty to Hon. W. Y. Atkinson that the party should honor him with whatever position he may deem acceptable, be it foreign or here at home," said Hon. Warner Hill, the well known legislator from Meriwether county yesterday. "Mr. Atkinson," he continued, "was the ground chunk of our Georgia democracy last year at a time when we needed a ground chunk that would stand the pressure. He was the most faithful leader of organized democracy ever known in Georgia, for he gave up his own affairs and devoted his entire time to the campaign. He would stay here in Atlanta from day to day and frequently never saw his home and family circle for weeks. He was always willing to go anywhere for the good of the party and sat up many a night till the dawn of day at work in the democratic rooms, in order to have certain mails make schedules that would put democratic circulars into a Georgia town in time for good service before some speaking. It will be a severe disappointment to all his friends in Georgia if the party at Washington does not give him that recognition he so much deserves, but whether the party at Washington does or not, put it in your hat that the party of his state will see that his faithful service receives its rightful rewards."

Mr. Sylvanus Morris, of Athens, was here yesterday. He is a candidate for the position of professor of English and belles lettres at the University of Georgia to fill the place of his distinguished father whose recent death is so widely deplored in the southern states. The splendid gifts and talents of the father are possessed by the son, and there seems to be something peculiarly fit and proper that he should succeed him at the State university. Mr. Morris, a scion of one of the oldest and best families of Virginia, came to Georgia from that state more than twenty years ago and graduated at the Georgia university with marked destinction. He afterwards took several other diplomas at the old college of our fathers and was always one of the most thorough students of the languages and literature. He has lately been engaged in writing a school history of the southern confederacy to take the place of the partisan books sometimes found in our southern schools from a northern standpoint. The book will soon be in press and it goes without saying that it will find its way to every school of the state before very long.

Mr. James S. Hamilton, who is just now the most interested man in Georgia gold mining, being the leader of a company with a wonderful new process of extracting gold from ores, was in the city yesterday with his many friends. Mr. Hamilton went up to Gainesville in the afternoon to look after his interests in the new process. By the way, the scientists who have investigated this discovery are a unit in the belief that it will, in its own good time revolutionize the gold mining world. Mr. Hamilton speaks with not only hopefulness, but certainty as to its success. He says it will make gold mining here in Georgia take on new interest and life and will mean very much to the mineral development of the state since the process never fails to get every particle of gold from the ore that a chemical test even can get.

Attorney General Joe Terrell came up from Greenville yesterday and is hard at work at his desk at the statehouse. He is kept pretty busy looking after the back taxes of the railroad companies of the state which have fallen far behind since so many of them have been put in the hands of a receiver. Colonel Terrell says the people of Greenville have about fixed up their houses at last, and that while the signs of the destructive cyclone will be seen in Greenville for a long time, the people have comfortable houses in which to live at least until the times get better when they can rebuild.

Rev. J. T. Tuohy and Messrs. W. J. Kenefick, Richard Hanlan and O. F. Bane, registered at the Kimball yesterday from Tate, Georgia. They are from St. Louis and came south to look after procuring some of the Georgia marble from the Tate quarries for the purpose of erecting a splendid church in St. Louis. They took a drive over Atlanta yesterday afternoon and expressed themselves as enjoying the sights of the thriving Gate City of the South very much.

Mr. Will Clay, one of the most promising young lawyers of the state, passed through Atlanta yesterday on his way to his home in Savannah, after visiting Montgomery on professional business. Mr. Clay is a graduate of the State university with the class of '86, and his many young friends of Atlanta who were with him at the old college, were shaking his hand most cordially about the hotels yesterday.

Mr. Charley Brand, the well-known lawyer of Lawrenceville, was in the city yesterday with all his many friends. He says he did not intend to get into the papers with the letter he wrote on behalf of the Baptist church of his town, but simply is working for aid to build a handsome church there in a quiet way. The boys say that Charley will come to the legislature next term.

Hon. Steve Clay went back to Marietta yesterday after attending the banquet in honor of Hon. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska. Steve was widely congratulated for the sentiments he uttered responding to the toast "Georgia," and his handshaking, backslapping friends kept him smiling all day at the Kimball the Mecca of the politicians.

Judge Fish came up from southern Georgia and was registered at the Kimball. He was on his way to Athens to attend the meeting of the board of trustees of the State university to be held there today.

Mr. Ab Mitchell and family, of Athens, were registered at the Kimball yesterday. They are returning to their home in the Classic City after a trip to Chicago and the great world's fair.

Mr. W. M. Slaton, of Atlanta, was made chairman of the board of visitors to the State university. He will be in the Classic City the remainder of the week attending to the duties of the board.

Mr. Fleming G. Bailey, of Griffin, was in the city for an hour or two yesterday. He is always at home in Atlanta where his friends are countless.

Messrs. H. C. Harris and E. S. Messick, of Fort Valley, were here a little while yesterday. They were at the Kimball.

SOME CARDS

Which Give a Full and Complete History Of

THE RAWSON DIVORCE SUIT,

Which Was Filed by Smith, Glenn & Smith on Wednesday—Card from Captain Grant.

The suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Ada Jackson Rawson again Sidney Rawson created a great deal of talk yesterday.

It was also productive of several cards from parties concerned. Judge Hammond wrote a card and so did Captain Grant, while Colonel Glenn made a talk about the matter.

The cards and Colonel Glenn's talk make a complete history of the case and tell the story better than it could otherwise be related.

Judge Hammond's Card.

Judge Hammond, a brother-in-law of Mr. Rawson, and one of the attorneys in the case, gives a complete history of the case over his own signature and here it is:

Editor Constitution—The commencement of divorce proceedings by Mrs. Ada J. Rawson against my brother-in-law, Mr. Sidney J. Rawson, and the charges made in the petition as published in this morning's Constitution, render it proper, in justice to him, that I should make a statement of the causes which led to the separation. He is charged with cruel treatment in abandoning her and making a false charge against her as to the paternity of her child.

I have refrained heretofore, out of motives of delicacy and consideration for her and her family, to make even private statements about the matter, and have endavored to keep the whole facts from the public, as far as possible, because I thought it would unnecessarily wound her feelings and be a source of annoyance and mortification to a very large and highly respectable family connection in Atlanta and throughout the state. I was urgently requested by different members of her family to aid them in keeping it quiet, and especially in keeping it out of the papers. I put myself to a good deal of trouble, at their request that I should do so, in bringing about this result. I was especially urged by them not to be hasty in commencing divorce proceedings, and was requested as a special favor to her family and to her not to take any action in the matter until I had conferred fully with the family. Several promises were obtained from me to that effect, and to the effect that I would not commence suit without giving notice beforehand to her counsel, Mr. John T. Glenn. Mr. Glenn was a party to these requests. They were made by members of her family, in his presence, and the promise was made to him as her counsel and to them. They were made with a view, as was well understood by all parties, to seeing if an arrangement could not be made, at their desire and request, by which a suit could be brought by Mr. Rawson, in another jurisdiction and on another ground than the one alleged by Mr. Rawson to be the true one. I acted in good faith in delaying the suit, with a view, as they well know, of giving full consideration to that question. A member of the family, who was present at that interview between myself and Mr. Glenn, came to me yesterday morning and stated that he would have nothing more to do with the matter and that he would not be responsible for what she or her counsel might do. From the intimation implied in this statement I asked him to say to Mr. Glenn that I considered him as much bound in honor to take no proceedings without first letting me know, as I was bound to him. He said he would deliver the message, and left my office. Mr. Glenn must have received the message, but whether he did or not, I cannot understand how, under all these circumstances, he could feel at liberty to commence any proceedings without first conferring with me about it. I so stated to him when he told me by telephone that he had filed the suit. He said in reply that I had made no promise to him and he had requested none of me. This certainly seems strange to me, when the request was made in his presence and in his office and with his full assent, and when he, as her counsel, was the party with whom I was to confer, before bringing any suit. He says he did not make the request himself. My recollection is different, but whether he did or not I certainly think a proper regard for what occurred would not justify the nice and technical point which he now seems to make. I was lulled into security by what occurred, and was only aroused by the filing of the suit, when I thought he and her family were still solicitous to have the suit brought in a foreign court. He was so solicitous on this point when I talked with with him, that he went so far as to read me a letter he had received from his client in which she said she would waive all questions in regard to alimony and make any consent we might desire if we would put the proceeding on some other ground. I had told him I knew of no ground but one, and he had said she was high tempered and it might be put upon the ground of incompatibility. He said a divorce could be obtained in Chicago on almost any ground.

As to the facts which caused the separation I desire to say that it is with great hesitation, even now, that I give them to the public. But I feel constrained to do so because the allegations in her petition as published do gross injustice to Mr. Rawson. He separated from her with the consent and advice of his family, and because we were all forced, irresistably, to the conclusion that no other course was left open to him.

They were married in Chicago on October 24, 1892. Previous to that time, for two years, he had been there and she had been here, and he had not seen her during all that time until the day of their marriage. As I am informed, before leaving Atlanta, she wrote to him that she was in trouble, and if he was ever going to marry her now was the time, and asked him to meet her in New York. He replied to her that she would have to come to Chicago, as he was in the employ of the Pullman car company and could not leave his work. She accordingly went from New York to Chicago, and they were married at once. I wish to lay emphasis upon the fact that he had not seen her for two years before that day. I am informed that after their marriage she got hold of the letter she had written him and destroyed it.

After their marriage they remained in Chicago for two months, he being in the employ of the Pullman car company all the time. He resigned his place and brought her to Atlanta on the 1st of January last. When she arrived here she showed evident signs of advanced pregnancy. I am told that it is impossible for these signs to appear in so short a time. These signs were so apparent that they were noticed not only by all the members of our family, but by casual observers and visitors at our houses where she was entertained as a guest.

They left here and went to Jacksonville, Fla., some time in March. When she left she had the appearance of a woman who was within a very short time of her delivery. The child was born on March 20th. This was just two hundred and eight (208) days from her marriage. The usual period, as is well known, is 280 days, or nine months of thirty-one days each. The usual way of counting is nine calendar months with six days added. A seven months child is one born in seven months of thirty-one days each, 217 days. This child being born nine days before the expiration of that period led us to make an investigation. We were exceedingly anxious that it should prove to be all right, and with that view Dr. Daniel, who delivered her, was seen and interviewed. He was urged to make a statement which would clear her, but he refused to make any statement at all on the ground that he was a friend of her family. He was asked if he did not know the best act of friendship he could perform for her and her family would be to make a statement that the child was a seven months child. He declined to answer that question. He was then asked to recommend a physician to examine the child. This he declined to do. He was then asked if Dr. Sollace Mitchell was a good physician. His reply was that there was none better.

Dr. Sollace Mitchell was then seen and taken to the house. This was on May 26th. The nurse was called and brought the child to him. He gave it a critical and careful examination, and stated positively and unequivocally that it was not a seven months child, but was an eight months or full term child. He said he thought it was slightly premature, but not much. He weighed and measured it. It weighed seven pounds with its clothing. He estimated the weight of the clothing at one and a half pounds. It measured nineteen inches and a fraction in length. Its finger nails were well developed, and some of them extended beyond the tips of its fingers. It was vigorous and cried lustily. He said that these facts made it clear beyond all controversy that it was an eight months or full term child, and could not be one of seven months.

On these facts Mr. Rawson separated himself from her, in a dignified and gentlemanly way, leaving her with her mother and relatives in the house that he had provided and furnished for her. He had always treated her kindly and considerately, and she had frequently spoken of it. He never spoke roughly to her or treated her cruelly, and made no charges against her publicly, but left her in the manner I have stated. It is hard for me to see how he could have done otherwise when her own physician, selected by her own kinspeople, and a friend of her family, refused to make a statement, when he could have cleared her and settled the whole matter by a word, stating that he refused to do so on the ground that he was a friend of her family; and when another physician, of the acknowledged prominence and ability of Dr. Sollace Mitchell, made such a positive and unequivocal statement, after examining the child, I do not think the charge of cruelty lies at Mr. Rawson's door.

After the separation we were still anxious to find out all the facts possible to show her innocence, if it could be shown. With this end in view I have made repeated propositions to her counsel, Mr. J. T. Glenn, and to her relatives to go with me to Jacksonville, and let us both interrogate Mr. Daniel, the physician who delivered her, and who refused to answer any questions asked by our side. This proposition has always been met with a firm refusal. I now make it again publicly, and ask them to publicly accept or decline it.

In addition to this, when I learned that Mrs. Rawson would be here on Sunday last, I proposed to Captain W. D. Grant, who had seen me repeatedly in reference to the matter, to have three physicians examine the child as soon as it arrived here, one to be selected by our family, one by her, and these two to select a third. He said he had no authority to make any such agreement, and there the matter dropped. I requested him, however, to communicate the proposition to her. I do not know whether he did so or not.

I learned from him Tuesday that he had had the child examined by a physician the day before. I then requested to be allowed to select a physician who would be unobjectionable to Mrs. Rawson or her family to go at once and make an examination. He replied that he had no authority to agree to this. Here the matter dropped. I have seen him once since, but he has never consented to such an examination by any physician of our selection. W. R. HAMMOND.

Captain Grant's Card.

Captain Grant, to whom Judge Hammond makes reference in his card, does not agree wholly with Judge Hammond and comes back this way:

Editor Constitution: Relative to the purported interview with Judge Hammond published in The Constitution this morning, I desire to state:

Mr. Cobb and I met Judge Hammond in Mr. Glenn's office and I stated to Judge Hammond that Mr. Glenn was my regularly employed counsel, and that we had asked him to meet us there.

In reply to the question as to where he thought of bringing the suit, Judge Hammond replied Chicago. We stated to him that while we were not authorized to represent Mrs. Rawson, yet, if the suit was brought upon any ground that did not reflect upon her virtue and honor, we did not think that she would care where the suit was brought. Mrs. Rawson was at that time on a sick bed in Jacksonville, Fla.

When Judge Hammond proposed that Mr. Glenn should go with him to Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. Glenn replied that "he could see no reason for their going, and, further, that he was engaged in the trial of the Stocks case and that it would be impossible for him to leave Atlanta." When Judge Hammond proposed for me to go, I replied that "I was physically unable to make the trip."

Mrs. Rawson is my first cousin, and I never had a doubt of her virtue, and have none now, and so stated to Judge Hammond in every conversation I ever had with him about the matter.

I had three subsequent conversations with Judge Hammond. My object was to have the matter amicably arranged, if possible, and if not possible, to have the suit brought in such a way as to reflect upon neither party. In the last interview I became satisfied that there was no hope of making any satisfactory arrangement, and I stated to Judge Hammond that all my efforts at an arrangement having failed, any communication hereafter must be addressed to Mrs. Rawson or to her attorneys.

I did not state to him that I "had about concluded to withdraw entirely out of the affair, and would not be responsible for anything more done by her.

Having perfect confidence in the virtue and honor of my cousin, Mrs. Rawson, my purpose is to sustain her in vindicating her good name. WILLIAM D. GRANT.

Colonel Glenn Talks.

Colonel Glenn when approached said that he did not intend to write a card, but that he had expressed his views in an interview and that the words of that interview were correct in expressing his position in the matter. He declined to say more than was said in that interview. Here it is:

"I have nothing to say in reply to it except that Judge Hammond cannot truthfully claim that I made any promise, directly or indirectly, or that he made me any, to notify him before any suit was commenced.

"Mr. Grant, who is my regular client, employing me by the year and Mr. Cobb, of Macon, came into my office and telephoned for Judge Hammond to meet them there. In that interview one of these gentlemen did ask Judge Hammond to let them know before any suit or other proceeding was commenced against Mrs. Rawson, as she was at the time on a sick bed in Jacksonville, Fla. Judge Hammond stated he would do so, but I took no part in the request to Judge Hammond.

"The statement that I suggested that the suit be brought in Chicago is untrue. When Judge Hammond was asked where he thought of bringing the suit, he said: 'In Chicago,' and Mr. Grant and I both said that if the suit was brought upon a ground which did not reflect upon her honor or virtue we presumed she would not care where it was brought.

"The effort to blacken and ruin the character of this pure and virtuous lady, who is a member of an honored family of this state will be successfully met in the trial of the suit which she has commenced for a divorce, the main object of the suit being to show that the false and slanderous reports which had been put in circulation about her are without the slightest foundation. She and her relatives, after a conference, determined to have the suit brought in Atlanta, where all the parties were known, and instructed my firm to commence the suit at once, which was done yesterday afternoon."

Another Card from Judge Hammond.

Editor Constitution:—The interview published in this morning's Constitution was given very late last night to one of your reporters and was taken very hurriedly. It is inaccurate in many particulars and conveys some erroneous impressions. I did not understand Captain W. D. Grant to state or to mean that he would have nothing more to do with the matter, in the sense of abandoning his efforts in behalf of his kinswoman. I understood him to mean that he would have nothing more to do with any effort to adjust the matter. He seems to have misapprehended my meaning, which I regret. He has always, in his interviews with me, stated that he had the utmost confidence in Mrs. Rawson, and has never stated or intimated anything to the contrary. He was always dignified, courteous and affable, and we parted with mutual expressions of esteem.

As to the facts in this case, I stand upon my card furnished you for publication over my own signature. I do not desire to be drawn into a controversy in regard to what was published in this morning's paper because I have tried to cover the whole ground in my card. I ask the public and the gentlemen on the other side to take that and that alone as containing all that I have to say on the subject. Respectfully,

W. R. HAMMOND.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The governor yesterday ordered an election in Harris county to fill the place of Mr. J. Hudson, member of the legislature, who died recently.

Pardon was granted Herschel C. Paris, convicted in Fannin county for carrying concealed weapons. The pretty young wife of the prisoner appeared before the governor with tearful eyes and told how she needed her husband at home for support and comfort, and how he had served several years in the chaingang already.

Mr. J. K. Kaman was appointed solicitor of the county court of Jefferson county until the next meeting of the legislature.

HOT WEATHER BELONGINGS.

We are prepared to show you a stock of these; such, probably, as you've never seen before. If you are dubious about it a little investigation will remove the last vestige of doubt. A. O. M. GAY & SON,

Mobile	46	18	28	.391
Macon	47	18	29	.383

Atlanta turned the tables on Nashville yesterday with a vengeance and defeated them by a score of 13 to 1.

It was a one-sided game from the start and Nashville never was in the game at any stage of it. Rettger pitched one of his usual good games for Atlanta and he held the Nashville's down to five hits, besides striking out three men.

Hoffer pitched a good game for Nashville but was hit hard and often. He struck out one man, gave three bases on balls and hit one.

Ely and Motz both knocked home runs over the fence and Duffee came along with a three-bagger. The Atlanta's made six two base hits and seven singles.

Teddy Sullivan was on the coaching lines and was loudly cheered by the bleachers.

Ely came to bat first for Atlanta and konched a pop fly to Hoffer, going out. Newman came next and was presented with first by Hoffer. Motz. was hit by a pitched ball and trotted down to first, Newman going to second. Duffee came to bat and knocked a three-bagger, scoring Newman and Motz. Conners got first and Duffee scored on an error by Nashville's short stop. Camp got his base on balls, Murray flew out to left field. Murphy knocked a two bagger and Conners scored, making four runs. Rettger went out from third to first, retiring the side.

Letcher led off for Nashville with a hit. Miller came next and flew out to Camp. Bolan was given his base on balls, but O'Brien fouled out to Duffee and Laroque struck out.

In the second inning Atlanta was put out in one, two, three order. Nashville went likewise in her half. In the third, Atlanta added another run on Duffee's single, Miller's error and a single by Conners. The next three men flew out. Nashville got two men on bases by bases on balls but they were left there by Rettger's good work in striking out O'Brien, Nashville's heavy hitter, two others having gone out at first.

In the fourth a single by Rettger was all Atlanta could get. Laroque, of Nashville, made a single, but he and Sommers went out the next minute on a double play from Duffee to Ely to Motz. Burke went out from Duffee to Motz.

In the fifth Motz was the first man up and of course it was a home run. Duffee flew out to third base. Conners made a single and Camp followed with another, Conners going to third. Camp stole second and Conners scored when Bolan threw the ball to second. Murray got first on an error, Camp going to third and scoring the same way Conners did, making three runs. The other two men went out.

Nashville was again shut out.

Nashville made her only run in the sixth inning and did it this way: Laroque got first on a player's choice, forcing O'Brien out at second. Then Sommers hit past first to Camp who let it go through him, Laroque scoring before the ball could be fielded.

Atlanta added two in the eighth on three doubles, and three in the ninth on a home run by Ely: two doubles and a single.

Umpire Sheridan gave general satisfaction as he has always done.

The following is the score:

The Game Today.

There was a red sunset yesterday and they say that is a sign of fair weather.

So a good day is expected, and when the game is called this afternoon no doubt a large crowd will be present.

This is an off-day in the league, but Atlanta and Nashville will play a deferred game. A good game may be expected, as both managers will put up their best teams.

The teams will be:

Atlanta.	Position.	Nashville.
Darby or Dewald	Pitcher	Boxingdale
Murphy	Catcher	Sommers
Motz	First Base	O'Brien
Conners	Second Base	Laroque
Duffee	Third Base	Burke
Ely	Shortstop	Boland
Camp	Right Field	Letcher
Murray	Center Field	Miller
Newman	Left Field	Leister

The game will be called at 4 o'clock p. m.

Birmingham 13, Macon 8.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The game today between Macon and Birmingham resulted in a score of thirteen to eight. The game was very interesting, but on account of the inclemency of the weather a very small crowd was present. The score by innings was:

Macon ....0 4 0 1 2 0 1 0 0—8 H 9 E 7
Birmingham ...2 1 0 0 3 7 0 0 x—13 H 9 E 2

Batteries—Lucid and Fields; Underwood and Earle.

Montgomery Shut Out.

Augusta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Augusta returned compliment and shut Montgomery out, five to nothing. The weather was threatening during the afternoon and on account of darkness was called a finish on the seventh inning. Montgomery presented her new pitcher, Parvins, who pitched an excellent game, but he was a little wild at times. Umpire Baker fined Armstrong $5, and put him out of the game for joshing him, but as Welsh was sick, Baker yielded to McClosky's appeal and allowed Armstrong to continue playing. Score by innings:

Augusta ....2 1 0 0 0 0 2—5 H 6 E 1
Montgomery ....0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 H 5 E 4

Summary: Two-base hits—O'Brien. Struck out—by Parvins 1; by German 6. Passed balls—Armstrong 1. Wild pitches—Parvin 1.

Chattanooga Defeats Memphis.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 15.—(Special.)—The Memphis fielders ought to strike for higher wages. This afternoon they worked like deckhands on a Mississippi steamer. The Chattanooga boys registered off Behne's delivery one home run, two three baggers, six doubles and seven singles, or sixteen hits with a total of twenty-nine bases. It was a bombardment. Memphis was simply outclassed at all points in the game.

The Bluff City players, on arriving here, were confident of walking away with three straight games. They have already lost two of the series and stand an excellent chance of biting the dust in the next one, which will be played Saturday. The score ended 13 to 4 in favor of Chattanooga. The terrific batting of Katz, Selbach and Dugdale was the special feature of the contest. Katz's home run hit was made in the first inning with two men on home, and went clean and high over the far right field fence. For the visitors Bolan and Frank did the best all-round work.

Chattanooga. . .3 0 0 1 1 0 4 0 4—13. H 12 E 0.
Memphis. . . . .2 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—4. H 7 E 6.

Batteries—Easton and Dugdale; Behne and Bolan.

Columbus Wants to Get In.

Columbus, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Columbus will probably be in the southern league in a few days, under the auspices of the Columbus Railroad Company. A large subscription was taken today and an amount more than sufficient was subscribed. A representative of the stockholders will go to see Vice President Altmeyer tomorrow and confer with him in regard to it. About all the arrangements have been previously made, but a few still remain undone.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GAMES.

At Baltimore—Cincinnati 2, hits 6, errors 1. Baltimore 8, hits 15, errors 3. Batteries—Mullane and Murphy; McMahon and Robinson.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn 14, hits 13, errors 2. Cleveland 6, hits 6, errors 6. Batteries—Kennedy and Kinslow; Cuppy, Stafford and Zimmer.

At New York—Chicago 9, hits 11, errors 1; New York 6, hits 11, errors 5; batteries Baldwin, MaMahon and Doyle; Manch and Kittredge.

At Washington—Washington 1, hits 2, errors 2; Louisville 3, hits 4, errors 3; batteries, Esper and McGuire, Hemming and Grim.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia 3, hits 5, errors 2; Pittsburg0, hits 5, errors 4, ten innings, batteries, Weyhing and Clements, Killen and Mack

At Boston—Boston 5, hits 10, errors 3; St. Louis 1, hits 6, errors 1; batteries, Staley and Merritt, Gleason and Reitz.

Relay Bicycle Race.

Madison, Wis., June 15.—The relay bicycle race from Springfield, Ill., to the capital of Wisconsin, was successfully concluded here today. The distance, 295 miles, was covered in twenty-six hours and fifty-three minutes. S. E. Gernon, the final relay rider, made the last five miles in twenty-one minutes, and arrived at the end of the route four minutes ahead of time. The message from Governor Altgeld to Governor Peck, conveyed by the riders, simply contained the former's greeting.

HE IS GLAD HE CAME.

Hon. W. J. Bryan Spent the Day Most Pleasantly Yesterday.

In spite of the clouds and rain Hon. W. J. Bryan was shown the city yesterday.

He was taken in hand by a committee appointed from the Young Men's Democratic League early in the morning after breakfast at the Kimball and was driven over the city.

He expressed a desire to call upon Senator Colquitt and the committee escorted him out to the senator's home in Edgewood, where he spent several hours. He and the senator talked about affairs political for quite a while, and upon most of the questions they discussed they agreed most heartily. They are in the same political boat, so to speak.

Next the distinguished congressman and brilliant orator from the west went to the state capitol and spent several minutes there. They were met by the governor, who went with them through the building, which the honored guest admired very much.

There is no more companionable fellow in all the wide world than is Congressman Bryan, and he was very entertaining all day.

Mr. Bryan left for Savannah last night.

"I want to spend one day there," said he, "simply to see the city. I have heard so much about it that I want to gratify my curiosity. I have received quite a number of personal invitations and expect to spend a pleasant day there.

"By the way, speaking of Savannah reminds me of the run I made a day or two ago in the Central's Nancy Hanks. I have traveled all over this country and have been on nearly every special train on the great trunk lines east of the Mississippi river, but if there is a finer train anywhere than the Nancy Hanks I have not seen it. Such a train reflects great credit not only on the management of the road, but on the patronage which supports such a magnificent schedule."

A FIGHTER AND SPRINTER.

Kitchens First Ran From and Then Fought the Officers.

Bill Kitchens, a white man, has been wanted by the police for some time to answer to a very serious charge of disorderly conduct. The entire police force has been instructed to arrest him if found.

Just before daylight yesterday morning Patrolmen McHaffey and Stroup met Kitchens on Simpson street and called to him to halt. With an oath Kitchens declared that he would not do so and broke into a run. He ran fast with the two officers behind him. The officers fired at him and after running for about two blocks Kitchens stopped and dropped to the ground.

When the officers reached him Kitchens swore that he would not be taken to the police station and begun fighting the patrolmen in a savage manner. He cursed and fought like a madman for several minutes, and finally was overpowered and placed in the patrol wagon. A case was made against him for resisting an officer in addition to the charge already against him.

A few nights ago Kitchens is reported to have gone to a negro house in the eastern part of the city and created a great disturbance. It was about 11 o'clock at night when he went to the place, and as he was armed with a Winchester rifle and pointed it at the negroes and threatened to use it, he created no small panic among the negroes. The negroes state that it was with difficulty that Kitchens was induced to desist. They reported the case to the police and since that time the officers of the force have been looking for him. He will be tried before the recorder this afternoon.

THE MASONIC TEMPLE.

An Important Meeting of the Stockholders of the Temple Company Last Night.

There was a very satisfactory meeting of the stockholders of the Masonic Temple Company last night at the hall.

It was for the purpose of straightening out the affairs of the company and getting rid of the debt that still hangs over the company for the payment of the piece of land that has been purchased for the erection of the splendid temple that is in contemplation.

It was an enthusiastic meeting. The new directors elected by the company were as follows: W. A. Hemphill, J. W. English, C. F. Malone, D. O. Dougherty, L. D. Carpenter and A. J. Shropshire. This was all the business before the stockholders and after the election the meeting of the stockholders adjourned.

At the meeting of the board of directors held after the meeting of stockholders, the following officers were elected: W. A. Hemphill, president; D. O. Dougherty, vice president; W. F. Parkhurst secretary.

The six directors elected by the stockholders, with the seven from the different lodges form the full board of directors. Those from the various lodges are as follows: Atlanta lodge, W. F. Parkhurst; Fulton lodge Levi Cohen; Georgia lodge C. F. Watson; Gate City lodge, Hoke Smith; Chapter lodge W. R. Beauprie; Commandery F. M. Freemont; Mystic Shrine H. C. Stockdell.

The following is the executive committee of the board: W.A. Hemphill, president; J. W. English, treasurer and W. F. Parkhurst, secretary.

The meeting of the directors was very enthusiastic. It was shown that the prospect is good for the complete payment of the remainder of the debt for the land in the very near future, and several hundred dollars was raised on the spot.

The members of the stock company are very happy over the meeting they held last night.

THEY SHOWED FIGHT.

Two Old Timers Object to Being Placed in Cells at Police Headquarters.

Alex Owens and Hiram Ray, two old-timers at police headquarters, had on their fighting clothes yesterday afternoon.

The two men were arrested in front of Lynch's saloon for being drunk, and accompanied the officers to headquarters without offering resistance, but when the turnkey attempted to put them in a cell they became obstreperous and offered fight. Four officers were required to place Owens in a cell. He is a powerful man and has a reputation as a fighter. He gave the patrolmen about as lively a tussle as they have had in many a day. Ray was quite as obstinate but was easier handled.

More Room for the Insane.

The directors for the insane asylum here today decided to erect a building at the south end of the female wing of a length of 120 feet and a depth of sixty, three stories in height. It will contain wards accommodating 150 patients. There will be an extension one story in heightand sixty feet square for a congregate dining room. The cost is to be $14,000, and bids will be opened July 11th.

The society for the preservation of relics met today and adopted a constitution and by-laws. It chose as its title the North Carolina Antiquarian Society.

MANY THIEVES.

Yesterday Was a Very Unlucky Day for This Craft.

A GANG WITH LOTS OF GOODS.

Perry Boyd Tells the Detectives Where Stolen Goods Are Stored—A Horse Thief Caught,

Thieves fared badly at the hands of the city detectives and police yesterday. Many of them were landed behind the bars of the police station, and evidence enough was discovered in each case to convict them, according to the opinion of the officers.

Perry Boyd, the railroad porter, was released from custody last night, but not until he had given the detectives information which led to the recovery of a large quantity of stolen goods, the arrest of one negro and the implication of several others in a wholesale and systematic robbery that has been going on for several months.

Day before yesterday Chief Connolly received a letter, of which mention was made in yesterday's paper. The letter came from some one on the inside of the gang which had been robbing several firms and gave away many secrets. The writer asked the detectives to visit Perry Boyd, the railroad porter, who was also the proprietor of a store and restaurant.

"Ask him certain questions," the writer said, "and you'll see his eyes roll around to one side and he'll scratch his head."

The detectives made the experiment, and sure enough the negro scratched his head. He told the detectives a number of things that enabled them to go deeper into the case. He asserted that he was innocent of any connection with the gang, but could tell about the members. Through information furnished by him Detectives Bedford and Walton searched the store of Elbert Wimbish, 232 Wheat street, and recovered quite a lot of groceries. Among the goods recovered were eleven sacks of flour. Wimbish was arrested for receiving stolen goods. He gave the names of several parties who stole the goods and the detectives are now looking for the others.

Boyd has told the detectives where more of the stolen goods are stored and today they will get possession of more of it if possible.

She Stole, Too.

Rosa Burks, a very shrewd-looking negro woman, was yesterday arrested by Detective Crim on a complaint made by a lady that she had stolen from her. After locking the woman up the detective learned that Rosa Burks was guilty of no less than a half-dozen thefts. In one case she will be prosecuted for burglary.

She worked very cleverly and under a half-dozen different names. It was her plan to go from place to place and secure employment, giving a different name at each place. After remaining at the place a short while she would begin to steal. In this way she stole from a number of families. Detective Crim yesterday succeeded in finding six families for whom she had worked and from whom she had stolen.

The woman formerly worked for Mrs. Rapp, at 63 Garnett street, and it was yesterday found by Detective Crim that she burgalarized Mrs. Rapp's home by entering it through a window.

He Stole a Horse.

Yesterday morning Patrolmen Bethea and Patterson arrested a young negro who gave his name was Charles Green. The negro was trying to dispose of a horse and his actions were so suspicious that the two patrolmen arrested him. The case was turned over to Detective Green and he succeeded in finding out that the negro's name was Will Evans, and that he had stolen the horse from a farmer living near Chamblee, in Decatur county. He will be sent to the Decatur jail tomorrow.

Here's Another.

Some time ago a negro was arrested for stealing a large number of sacks. He denied the theft and stated that a negro named Rufus Daniels was the guilty party. Yesterday morning Detective Looney arrested Daniels and placed him in a cell at police headquarters. Today he will have him committed to jail to await trial.

HE WILL CROSS THE CONTINENT.

Judge Haight Preparing to Leave for the Great West—Judge Gaston His Successor.

Judge Will Haight is making his arrangements to leave for Arizona in the early fall.

Before he can go, however, he will have to dispose of his property in this city, and to do this without making a sacrifice, it is necessary for him to wait until money is free and a rise occurs in the real estate market.

Judge Haight has been a resident of this city for nine years, coming here a comparative stranger in 1884. He has made scores and scores of friends by his genial bearing, and though a republican in national politics he has always had the best interests of the city at heart, irrespective of party affiliation. Many of his most ardent admirers are among the democrats of this city. Last week he disposed of his Georgia reports.

"I will have no further need of them," said he, "as I will be in the jurisdiction of another state, far removed from this one, and spread out over the Rocky mountains of the great west. It causes a pang to part with them, and it makes me feel as if I was losing a lot of my old friends. They have been associated with many pleasant tilts in the courthouse, but I shall remember my Georgia friends without the artificial aid of such memorials."

"Will you practice law in the west?" the question was asked.

"Oh, yes, I intend to hang out my shingle as soon as I get across the continent. My clients may not be many or profitable at the start but I shall be ready to receive them and to assure them of my willingness to represent them in the courts."

Judge J. B. Gaston, of Gainesville, who has been serving as United States commissioner in the place of Judge Haight for several weeks. When the health of the latter began to fail and he was forced to take a western trip, Judge Gaston came from the mountains and has since continued to exercise the duties of his responsible position in this city.

It is not known at present what the action of the government will be as to a permanent successor for Judge Haight.

The matter will not be decided for several weeks, and Judge Gaston will likely be the man.

CUSTOM HOUSE NOTES.

This is an off week at the custom house, but the clerks and officers are all busy with routine work, which keeps them continually employed during the day.

Judge Newman, who returned from Columbus, Ga. last Tuesday, having merely called his court to order at that piont for the purpose of complying with the law, is now engaged with very important work in chambers. Next Monday morning he will take up the criminal docket, and dispose of the revenue cases that have not as yet been tried. For this purpose only one of the juries employed week before last has been ordered to report for duty next Monday morning. The docket is not very heavy and will likely be cleared in one or two days.

In the case of Coffin and Stanton against W. B. Thomas, the Blue Ridge and Atlantic railroad and others, a decree was found for the complainants and ordered to be filed yesterday. It was held that the transfer and sale of 3,040 shares of stock and 300 bonds of the Blue Ridge and Atlantic railroad to Coffin and Stanton was valid. W. B. Thomas is perpetually enjoined from interfering with the possession or ownership of said stocks and bonds, or from attempting to embarrass the titles in any way.

The new grand jury for the fall term of the court, will probably be drawn in a few days. This jury will be shouldered with the investigation of the Redwine case, and the proceedings for the purpose of ascertaining the truth of the matter, will take a fresh start from the beginning. This jury will, in all likelihood be drawn before the end of the month.

GENTRY'S BROTHER.

Brother of the Notorious Murderer Has an Atlanta Man Arrested.

GENTRY GOT MAD, SAYS THE DEFENDANT

And Swore Out the Warrant—Captain Wright Gone West—Why Hun Brotherton Was Not Locked Up.

J. C. Younger, a two hundred and fifty-pounder, who has been doing business in this city for a number of years, was arrested by Detective Green yesterday afternoon on a charge preferred by a brother of the notorious Asbury Gentry, horse thief and murderer.

Younger is about sixty years old, weighs over 250 pounds and is quite distinguished looking in appearance. For several years he has been a cattle dealer in partnership with L. J. Awtry. The firm dealt extensively in cattle, and Mr. Younger traveled and bought the animals for slaughter.

A few days ago he struck Haralson county and visited that section of the county made famous as the home of the Gentrys and as the scene of much of their desperate lawbreaking. W. A. Gentry, an older brother of Asbury Gentry, sold Younger a lot of cattle, which were shipped to Atlanta.

A day or two after buying the cattle Younger received a telegram from his partner asking him to come to Atlanta at once, as business very important to the firm had to be attended to. He left Buchanan without paying Gentry for the cattle he had bought, intending to remit as soon as he reached Atlanta. When he got here the firm was dissolved, Awtry assuming the firm's obligations. Gentry was very angry and demanded his money. Younger wrote him that if Awtry did not pay it he would do so.

This letter, instead of pacifying, aroused the intense anger of the scion of the noted Gentry family, and he resolved upon revenge. He swore out a warrant against Younger for cheating and swindling and obtaining goods under false pretenses. He brought the warrant to Atlanta, and yesterday afternoon Detective Green arrested Younger. Younger made every effort to make bond, but as it could not be assessed he had to remain at police headquarters. He was not locked up, but was kept under guard.

Captain Wright Leaves for the West.

Chief of Detectives Wright left yesterday afternoon for Texas and Arkansas, where he goes to visit his brother and other relatives. He was accompanied by his two daughters.

Exactly one year ago yesterday Captain Wright left the city to make the same trip. June 15th is the day for his western trip to begin, and for several years he has unfailingly left the city on that date for a visit to relatives in the west. He will be gone two weeks, and during that time will visit Texarkana and Hope, Ark., and points in Texas.

Influence Didn't Do It.

Much unfavorable comment has been made upon the fact that Hun Brotherton, who shot at Robert Boggan, was allowed to remain at police headquarters under arrest several hours without being locked up. The talking was done by those who supposed that the political influence of the young man's father had something to do with the leniency shown.

Captain Brotherton was not long ago a police commissioner, and the inference was that the favoritism shown his son was on account of that fact. Such, however, is not the fact. As a matter of fact, Chief Connolly, who was responsible for Brotherton's not being locked up, stated that while a member of the police board Captain Brotherton did not support him, and, therefore, he did not feel obligated to show him any special favors. He merely allowed young Brotherton to remain in the office while preparations were being made to secure bond. Captain Thompson, who was on duty at the time, is in the same boat.

THE NEWS OF THE CITY.

COLORED CITIZENS TO MEET.—There will be an important meeting of colored citizens tonight in the interest of the Colored Teachers' Association, which meets in this city on June 20th. The following committee has been appointed to arrange matters and prepare for a rousing reception to be given to the delegates: R. J. Henry, M. H. Bentley, A. Nash, William Finch, R. Steele, A. Graves, J. M. Blackshear, and Secretary Sellson. They will meet at Fish's shop at 8 o'clock. The convention will close with a grand banquet on Friday night of next week.

ANOTHER JOE SCHMIDT.—Mr. Joe Schmidt, who resides at 148 Williams street, and whose father is Mr. Frank Schmidt, desires to have the fact known that he is not the Joe Schmidt who was charged with disorderly conduct at Peters park the other day.

A HAPPY SMILE.—M. J. Yarbrough, the well-known plumber, came to his place yesterday morning wearing a happy smile. "She's a girl, boys," he said, "and she weighed nine pounds, and is already the belle on Jackson street."

BROTHERTON TO BE TRIED TODAY.—The case against Hun Brotherton for shooting at Robert Boggan was not tried in police court yesterday afternoon. Several witnesses in the case and a number of people interested in hearing it tried were present, but they were disappointed. The case will be tried this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A VISITING CHIEF.—B. B. Clowe, chief of police of Wilmington, N. C., spent yesterday at police headquarters, the guest of Chief Connolly. Chief Clowe was getting points from the workings of the Atlanta department. He expressed himself in terms highly complimentary to the Atlanta department.

They Oppose the Sherman Law.

Savannah, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—At a joint meeting of the Savannah board of trade and cotton exchange, held at noon today, a resolution was passed urging Hon. Rufus E. Lester to urge the repeal of the Sherman silver law when congress meets in the fall. The resolution urged the importance of the repeal of that law upon all Georgia's representatives in congress and a copy of it will be sent to each of them, requesting that they work for its repeal.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS AND FORECAST.

With moderate heat and a few scattered showers, yesterday was generally a very comfortable and pleasant day in the southern states, more especially so in the vicinity of Atlanta, at which place the mercury only reached a maximum of 76 degrees, which was not only the lowest maximum reported in the southeastern states, but the lowest reported by any station in the country except Charlotte, N. C., and Dodge City, Kas.

Throughout the districts in the vicinity of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and west thereof, temperatures were abnormally high, many stations in the northwest and west having maximum temperatures between 80 and 90 degrees.

Light rains also fell during the day at many points in the Ohio valley, lake regions and districts located between the Mississippi river and the Rocky mountains. Last evening clear skies were generally observed in the lower Mississippi valley, while in almost every other locality more or less cloudiness, with unsettled weather, still prevailed.

Indications for today are for fair weather except showers in northern and eastern Georgia. Slight change in temperature.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, June 15—The dealings on the stock exchange were characterized by a rather weak tone early in the day, the bears having raided the list on the strength of the meeting of the clearinghouse yesterday afternoon and the lack of knowledge as to what was accomplished. It subsequently transpired that the offerings for short account were absorbed by operators who felt satisfied that the clearinghouse committee would recommend an issue of certificates if necessary, and this would relieve the tension which has existed in the local money market. As soon as it was announced that the clearinghouse committee at their meeting had definitely decided to issue certificates, beginning with tomorrow, Wall street experienced a feeling of relief, and this was reflected in the stock market. An advance of ½@¾ per cent ensued, Sugar, Lake Shore, Chicago Gas, General Electric, Reading, Louisville and Nashville and the Grangers leading the upward movement. New England was exceptionally weak, declining 1⅞ per cent. National Starch opened at 7½, against 15¼ the last reported sale, but later rallied to 9. Second preferred, which closed yesterday at 28½, opened at 32 and made a further advance to 33.

The sales were 163,000 shares.

Railway bonds were dull but steady. Sales $839,000. Georgia Pacific 5s brought 40, against 50⅛ the last previous reported sale.

Government bonds weak.

State bonds dull.

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter.
By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The New York clearing house held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon and after the business of the day had been transacted the members present had an informal talk regarding the financial crisis through which we are passing, and it was the general opinion of the meeting that the issuance of clearing house certificates would be of great benefit, and at a meeting called for today to discuss the matter, it was agreed to issue them, and further trouble to the banks is supposed to be now averted. The situation is a serious one, and it is much better for the clearing house to take heroic measures now than to wait until money is 1-4@1-2 per cent a day. It is possible that the Philadelphia and Boston banks will follow suit and issue certificates, but it is hardly to be expected that Chicago will come to the rescue, as they would rather see their customers go into bankruptcy than to be compelled to admit they had to resort to such measures. The Chicago business community is no doubt the worst off of any in the country as regards finances, and requires more aid than nearly the whole country put together. When such houses as Walker & Co., doing a business of nearly seven millions a year need assistance and ask for an extension of three months, as they have asked from their creditors in New York, the situation becomes a very serious one. The short interest in our market is very heavy, and although we do not advise purchases of stocks, still we do not think the time favorable to sell short. In times like these the cautious ones are best off and it is better to await developments and see whether if we have as yet reached the worst of the trouble.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, June 15—The demand from Manchester spinners slackened today in Liverpool, and while sales continue large, they are not equal to the active demand of yesterday. Sales of spot cotton as reported amount to 15,000 bales at an advance of 1-16d in quotations. In the arrival market there was an evident disposition to take advantage of the advance to secure profits which have come to those who have had the confidence to invest in cotton in this last decline. Large sales of arrivals have also been made for the account of operators who have bought in this market and in New Orleans for the reason that cotton was cheaper than it was in the foreign markets. This comparative decline in America is due largely to the credit stringency which has spread over the country and leaves cotton without speculative support. Our market opened barely steady at 6@7 points decline from yesterday's prices, but the trade, fearing another active demand from Liverpool, as has been the case for several days, bought freely offerings that were made for southern account; and, coupled with the covering of short cotton for account of Chicago parties, the market advanced some 10 points above last evening before the demand was exhausted. At that point the market has gradually receded until the distant positions are at about last evening's prices, while the nearby deliveries are slightly above the quotations then ruling. There appears to be a sentiment in the market that the nearby deliveries will be wanted for Liverpool; that the holdings for Liverpool account in this market showed New York to be cornered. This is hardly probable, as the stock at any time when such an operation has been attempted and the financial conditions are not in such shape as to warrant the supposition that bankers would contribute to the success of any speculative movement at the moment. The temper of the market, however, remains very bullish, and those who had previously looked for a decline in cotton under the good crop accounts in the month of June are now disposed to believe that it will remain at about these prices until the crop is more fully developed. It appears from the dispatches received from the south in the afternoon misleading advices regarding the threatened corner in the summer positions have been current throughout country during the day. From Boston advices have come to hand that there is talk there that manufacturers are reducing their production in consequence of their inability to dispose of the manufactured article, and their selling agents can't secure the necessary discounts from the monetary institutions. Doubtless statement is exaggerated, and the recent advance in print cloths would seem to contradict such advices. The short interest having become covered the market declined, closing easy at the lowest prices of the day at some 6@8 points below the quotations current last evening. Crop advices, if anything, are improving under the influence of the warm and dry weather, and unless fresh speculation comes to assist Liverpool it seems likely that the Manchester spinners may return to their hand-to-mouth policy under the influence of crop advices and the large stock of cotton remaining unsold in Liverpool.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Circular.

NEW YORK, June 15—[Special.]—We had a very lively market today. Liverpool gave a rather tame response to our final advance of yesterday, and the opening here was at 10 points decline, the first sale of August being at 8.02. For a few minutes the market seemed to hesitate, and sales were recorded a point or two lower, but prices soon began to harden. The shorts, fearful of their experiences of yesterday being repeated, began covering during the forenoon, and August was rapidly bid up to 8.10. At this point telegrams began pouring in with buying orders for the long account, and for an hour or more the market was wild, August advancing, amid much excitement, to 8.18. Although Liverpool about this time closed barely steady and slightly lower, no attention seemed to be paid to the rather ominous change, but the buying fever soon began to abate slowly but steadily. The market yielded under the offerings until August was selling at 8.10. Then rumors were heard of an intention of Fall River spinners to run on half time, and great weakness followed. The close was easy at the opening price, 8.02 being bid for August. The general expectation is that we shall have a lower Liverpool tomorrow, and in that case we do not see what is to prevent a break here.

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, June 15—The market opened at a fractional decline, but stiffened soon after the opening on purchases for southern account and covering of local shorts, prices advancing 10 points from the opening. During the evening tight money caused realizing and the market declined 14 points, the shorts being the best buyers during the last few days, and this support has now been withdrawn from the market. The market is nervous. With easy money higher prices are acceptable, but so long as Liverpool keeps buying spots on a liberal scale we think prices will be fully maintained

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, June 15.—There was no snap to the markets today. The action of the New York Clearing House Association in deciding to issue certificates, while designed to relieve matters, had, doubtless, a temporary depressing effect. Wheat broke over a cent and closed within 1-8c. of the inside figures of the day. Corn, compared with last night, is 3-8 c. off. Provisions are down 5@7 1-2 cents. There was great apathy in cables, the weather was all that could be desired and The Cincinnati Price Current's weekly report showed a steady progress in all crops. The proposition of New York banks to issue clearing house certificates and the decline in stock in Wall street were used with effect by the bears. Trade seemed to have got long of wheat during the week and was disposed to unload, but as there was little demand, the effort caused depression and weakness. There was some attempt to rally the market by reports of hot winds in Kansas and drought in the northwest, but met with little success. Trade was dull and narrow from start to finish. The opening was about 3-8c. lower than the closing figures of yesterday, and with some slight fluctuations prices further declined 3-4c., then ruled steady and the closing was about 1c. lower for July and 7-8c. lower for September. It was given out by Armour & Co. that they are to carry half the wheat in store here.

Corn was weak on crop reports, dullness in trade and the slump in wheat. Cables report an advance abroad, but it did not help things much. The market, after opening 1-8@1-4c. off, declined 1-2c. more. At the decline the demand improved, the car lots coming in small and 1-4@3-8c. rally followed, after which the price again weakened 5-8c. and at the close the market had lost 5-8@1 1-8c.

Oats were weak in sympathy with everything else. There was a light trade, and prices declined 1-4@1-2c., closing at about the inside figures.

Business in provisions was confined to a few trades in lard and ribs. The market ruled fairly steady at a slight decline. There was a demand for vessel room and rates held at 2 1-4c. for wheat and 2c. for corn to Buffalo.

The leading futures ranged as follows in Chicago today.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.
By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

CHICAGO, June 15.—A sort of a lull in the export demand and fine weather throughout the country, with the exception of hot winds in South Dakota, extreme stringency in the New York money market and the timidity of holders and the disposition to wait by would-be investors, were unfavorable elements, which caused a decline of 1c. per bushel in wheat today. Paris declined about the same as it advanced yesterday. Berlin advanced about 3-4 mark. Liverpool unchanged. Sample lots of cash corn and oats were all disposed of at about yesterday's figures, but speculative features were weak and declined with wheat. Scarcely anything was done for future delivery in provisions, although prices were normally 15c. per barrel lower for pork, 7c. per 100 pounds for lard and 5c. for ribs. The receipts of hogs at the yards were large; prices 25@30c. per 100 pounds off. The Cincinnati Price Current makes the week's packing 158,000, against 295,000 last year. We notice, however, hogs are very much heavier, also that all the small packing houses out west are getting more hogs than they can handle, and we think packing throughout the west is much larger than figures appear on the face to indicate.

Receiver's Sale.

In pursuance of an order of the judge of the superior court of Fulton county, Georgia dated 24th of May, 1893, in the case of Speyer Bros. et al vs. A. J. Miller's estate, et al, pending in said court, I will offer for sale, at public outcry, on Friday, the 30th of June, 1893, at 11 o'clock a. m., to the highest bidder on the premises for cash, the following described property, towit:

A lot in the city of Atlanta, commencing seventy-five feet (75 feet) southwest of the corner of Grubb and Broad streets and running twenty-seven and one-half feet (27 1-2 feet) on Broad street and extending back uniform width to Peachtree street. Said lot being part of land lot seventy-eight (78) of the fourteenth district of Fulton county (14th district) and has on it a three-story brick building and includes one-half of the brick walls on both sides, and extending from Broad to Peachtree street, and known as the store building in which said A. J. Miller's estate has lately been doing business.

The said property is embraced in said litigation, and will be sold free from all encumbrances.

The purchaser will be required to pay on the spot as soon as said property is knocked off, one thousand dollars in cash, or in certified check, as a guarantee that he will comply with the terms of his bid.

The sale will be made subject to confirmation by said court, and on confirmation the balance of the purchase money must be paid in cash.

TO TEACH ENGLISH.

The Man Who Can Do It Best Is Very Much Wanted.

UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES IN SESSION

A Professor of Belles Lettres and English to Be Elected—A Georgia Man Seems to Be the Preference of Trustees.

Today the trustees of the State university will meet in regular annual session at Athens.

The business before the board in which most interest centers is the election of a professor of belles lettres and English to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Professor Charles Morris.

This, perhaps, is the most important chair in the State university, and for reasons like this the trustees are giving it much consideration. Several prominent members of the board went over to Athens from Atlanta yesterday, among the number being Hon. N. J. Hammond, president of the board; Judge Fish, Hon. W. A. Little and others.

There are many applicants for the place. It has been said that no less than twenty-five are after it. Among the number are several prominent Georgians.

Professor Neel, of Atlanta; Professor Jerry Pound, of Barnesville, and Mr. Sylvanus Morris, of Athens, are among the number, and it is said that there are others in this state applying for the position.

Besides these there are a great many from other states, even distant states in the north who seek the appointment. They have all submitted their endorsements and credentials to the secretary of the board of trustees, and now comes the election.

Several leading members of the board have made no bones about saying that they will favor a Georgian for the place. They say that it would be a doleful and extremely doubtful compliment to the university if from its alumni no one can be found capable of teaching English in the college. They say further that all things being equal, the professor ought to be a Georgia citizen. "I don't approve of a policy of going off to distant colleges for a graduate to teach in our State university if we can get as good a teacher from our own alumni, because this thing of going away from home to get men to fill positions in a home institution usually tends to alienating that institution from home people" was the way a distinguished member of the board put the question yesterday before taking the train for Athens.

"I don't think I can be able to get away to attend the meeting of the board," said Major Cummings, of Augusta, one of the most enthusiastic trustees, speaking of the matter, "and I really don't think the trustees will elect the professor at this session. You see we have three months yet before the professor is needed. He will not be called to take charge before the opening of the fall term. We can, therefore, take our time about it, if the trustees do not decide to elect at this meeting.

"There are many things to be taken into consideration in this election, and I think the policy of the trustees will be to go cautiously and slow about it. I think we owe it to the college to get the best man we can find. All things being equal, I am in favor of getting a Georgian to fill the place. If we can get a better man than applies from Georgia, however, I think we will but do our duty to get him."

Mr. Morris's Application.

Many of the trustees favor the appointment of Mr. Sylvanus Morris, a son of the late Professor Charles Morris, who presided in the chair so ably and so long. Mr. Morris certainly has a strong endorsement for the place, having letters to the board from all sources, and many petitions from the alumni of the college from all parts of the state.

He has been a successful teacher when that was his profession, and since that time has been among the ablest lawyers of the many able lawyers from Athens. All of his endorsements tell of his thoroughness in English literature.

Mr. Morris has many strong friends among the trustees, and his claims for the place will be urged by them with vigor.

Professor Pound, of Barnesville, likewise also has a number of friends among the members of the board, and so has Professor Neel, of Atlanta. All of the Georgia applicants for the place will go before the board with such endorsements as will make it interesting before the election is at hand.

The board will meet today, but it is probable that the election will not occur until Monday.

There is much interest in it here in Atlanta, and a petition from the alumni of the college here will be carried over by several university men and submitted to the board favoring the appointment of Mr. Sylvanus Morris.

THEY WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The Members of the Local Committee in Behalf of the Big Convention.

There will be an important meeting tonight, in The Constitution building, of all the various sub-committees appointed to arrange for the world's convention of international Christian workers.

This meeting will be held in the business office, on the first floor, and will be called to order by his excellency, Governor William J. Northen, the chairman of the local board.

Every member of the general committee is urged to be present at this meeting, and to come prepared with a number of ideas to engage in the general, though informal, discussion of the whole subject.

An important item of consideration will be the question of an auditorium.

At the very lowest calculation, there will be as many as five thousand delegates to attend the convention, and these will represent every section of the globe.

The provision, therefore, of a suitable place in which to hold the deliberations of the body is a matter of the very first importance. The city has invited this convention, and now it behooves her to get ready for their coming, or else sustain a lasting rebuke to her hospitality.

Since there is no building in the city that is large enough to answer the needs of the convention, it is necessary to improvise an auditorium.

The members of the committee are requested to come tonight with ideas on this point.

Rev. J. C. Collins, the secretary of the convention, writes that many influential and leading citizens of Boston will be in attendance, together with prominent merchants from Washington city, Canada and the northwest.

A special car, for the accommodation of those who desire to attend the convention, will be run from Boston to Atlanta, and over a thousand delegates will pour into the city from New England.

The convention will be in session for one week, and plans will be discussed for the promotion of Christianity and the complete evangelization of the world.

All of the delegates are enterprising workers, engaged in the furtherance of the gospel in home and foreign fields, the deliberations of the body will no doubt teem with an opulence of rich and varied suggestions.

Devotional exercises and the best of music will constitute an attractive feature of the convention. There will be three sessions a day, and a great deal of work will be accomplished.

These statements are made in advance of the meeting tonight for the purpose of throwing all possible light upon the subject.

Atlanta will be, in a large measure, the beneficiary of this convention. The entertainment of such a vast body of Christian workers will be in the nature of a benediction, and the spiritual atmosphere of the city will be clarified and sweetened to such an extent by the assembling of the convention in Atlanta that its purifying and exalting influence will never die out in this community.

Every citizen of Atlanta, irrespective of religious sentiment or church affiliation, should hail with rejoicing the coming of this convention, and do all in his power to aid those who are seeking to promote it.

IT IS NEARLY FINISHED.

The New Florence Crittenden Home—Will the Legislature Recognize It?

A movement is now on foot to make the Florence Crittenden home a state institution.

No definite action, however, has yet been taken, and the idea has simply been discussed in a quiet, informal way.

There was to have been a meeting of the board of managers yesterday morning in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association, but, on account of the failure of a quorum to be present, due to a misunderstanding as to the appointed hour, no business of any importance was transacted.

Mrs. F. W. Miller, the vice president of the board, presided, and, after collecting the monthly dues of those present, adjourned the meeting until the first Tuesday in July.

The new building, which the home will soon occupy, is now rapidly nearing completion, and the dedicatory exercises will be held in a few days.

This was partially the object of the meeting which was to have been held yesterday morning. It was desired by the ladies to arrange an entertaining programme, and to throw open the doors of the institution in a formal and impressive manner.

This important institution, which crystalizes the most sublime and Christian sentiment born of the age, is growing every day in the approval of right-thinking people. As the scope and character of the institution are becoming daily more apparent, the enthusiasm of the state is gradually awakening. People are now beginning to understand the nature of the home and the motives of those pure unselfish and devoted ladies who have given to the poor, unhappy Magdalenes, who society has ostracised, their Christian and championship.

Such an institution has everything to commend it, and the effort of the board of managers to bring it before the legislature of the state will, no doubt, meet the warmest approval of that body.

Unless there happens to be a called meeting of the board, all discussion as to state adoption or the arrangement of a programme for the exercises of dedication will be deferred until the regular meeting next month.

The new building, in the meantime, is rapidly nearing completion, and in a few days will be ready for occupancy.

To Cleanse the System

VALUABLE INFORMATION TO SOUTHERN VISITORS

To the World's Fair—How to Reach the Columbian Hotel at Chicago.

In reply to daily inquiries from the south as to the most direct way from the railway stations to the Columbia hotel, we suggest: First, that visitors select a pleasant and popular route—one that will land them in Chicago during the day time.

If you leave Atlanta in the morning, start at 10 o'clock and see that your ticket from Nashville is via the Evansville route and the coupon reads: "Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway."

If you leave Atlanta after noon, start at 2:15 and be sure your transportation north of Louisville and Cincinnati is via the Monon route. These trains will land you during the day at the most conveniently located depot in Chicago—the Dearborn station on Polk street. From this station it is only one block to State, the principal street in Chicago. When you pass out from the station turn to your right, walk one block to State street and take a south-bound cable car, get off at Thirty-first street. Here you will find the Columbia hotel and a genuine southern welcome among friends from home. Very truly yours,

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

The Constitution's World's Fair Contest Nearly Over.

SATURDAY AT NOON THE LAST HOUR.

Ballots Pouring In and the Contest Beginning to Get Close—Thousands of Ballots and More Coming.

There are only two more days in The Constitution's world's fair ballot contest.

On Saturday, the 17th, the hour of noon, will mark the closing of the polls and immediately after that hour has struck a committee of three will proceed to count the ballots.

In order that everything may be as fair as possible and that all may have an impartial count, the following committee has been selected to preside over the handling of the ballots: Mr. Tom Corrigan, Judge A. E. Calhoun and Mr. T. J. Kelly.

These gentlemen will see that every ballot is counted and that every ballot counted is one clipped from a regular edition of The Constitution, and properly filled.

The following communication was received at The Constitution office yesterday:

Coupon Editor Constitution—Dear Sir: Information has come to my ear that an unscrupulous effort is being made to duplicate The Constitution ballots and that these ballots are being offered to contestants at so much per thousand. Is it possible for the ballots to be duplicated, and if such a thing were attempted, would the fraud pass undetected? CANDIDATE.

In reply to this we would say that it would be impossible to duplicate the ballots. The reason is obvious. In the first place the ballots were set upon the linotype machine, and it would be extremely difficult to duplicate this type with job type. The ballots could not possibly be set up on the linotype machine, without the knowledge of our foreman, and the only linotype machines in the city are in The Constitution office.

Even could this type be duplicated by an unscrupulous printer in a job office, the reverse side of the ballot is printed with regular reading matter. This also is set on the linotype machine. To get up anything like a duplicate, and go to the trouble of printing and selling them would hardly pay, even if they could be duplicated. But as any attempt at duplication would be detected, it would be worse than useless and exceedingly dangerous.

In other words the contest is going to be decided strictly on its honest merits, and when the result is announced all may rest assured that the five winners will be the five who received the largest number of genuine votes.

Thousands of ballots are already in, and they increase every day as the end approaches. It will be well for all those holding ballots to turn them in at once, so as to be sure they get in on time. Any slight delay in the mail or otherwise on the last day might throw them out, as not a ballot will be counted which comes into the office after 12 o'clock Saturday, the 17th instant. So send in your ballots, and if you get any more, they can come in the next day. But in the meantime you will know that the first bunch is safely in hand.

There will be five winners.

The great question just now is, who will they be.

Remember the rules and prizes of the contest. To the public school teacher, fireman, policeman, commissioned militia officer or factory operative who receives the largest number of ballots, clipped from The Constitution, we will give free a ticket to Chicago and return over the famous East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and Queen and Crescent routes as far as Cincinnati, and from Cincinnati to Chicago and back over either the Monon or Big Four routes. After getting to Chicago the successful contestants will be given free board and lodging at the famous Hotel Ingram, a model fire proof hotel, just opposite the main entrance to the grounds, for one week.

Who will be the winners? Here are the ballots. Let the people decide.

Lecture—"Money and Morals"—Hon. Henry Watterson, editor Louisville Courier-Journal.

Alumnæ Exercises.

The alumnæ reunion was the most interesting occasion. There was a touch of pathos in the daughters gathering around the dear old mother, who has not forgotten the elder, in caring for her younger children. This year, they have other interests and other loves now, but the tie that holds them to the old college home is strong, tender, sweet and deathless.

It was a happy conception of President C. C. Cox to gather the old graduates around the old homestead upon this semi-centennial, for them to speak words of affection and reverence for the mother, of cheer to each other, and of helpfulness and inspiration to all.

It was an impressive and beautiful scene—such a one as was never witnessed in the college before, and will not be again, probably until its centennial is reached. Then the graduates of this commencement, those who are yet surviving—may do as their mothers and grandmothers have just done. May such a privilege be accorded them before all gather finally at the river.

President Cox showed your reporter the files of catalogues of the college since 1843, with other valuable historical data, carefully preserved in the iron vault of the college. The first musty document of '42 announces the purpose of inaugurating "an institution for the higher education of woman," and reveals a lofty ambition which has largely been realized in these fifty years past.

At 10 o'clock a. m. of Tuesday the reunion took place. Every class, from '45 to '93, inclusive, covering a period of forty-eight years, was represented by one or more members. Many have past to the final reunion in the great beyond, but a host of good and noble matrons met to lay their laurels, in whatever sphere achieved, upon the altars of their early love.

Among the graduates are the wives of Senators Gordon and Colquitt, Professor Noah K. Davis, Mr. Shallcross, of McFerran, Shallcross & Co., Louisville; Drs. E. W. Warren, I. T. Tichenor, C. A. Stakely and a host of other distinguished names.

Rev. Dr. Gambrell opened the exercises with prayer, and presided. One by one the names of graduates, present or represented by letter, were called, and they came forward in person to read their tributes, or they were read by others for them. Among the contributors (these ladies were also present) were: Mrs. Marie Battle Morgan, of the class of '45; Mrs. Mary Greene Awtrey, '47; Mrs. Frances Bacon Foster, '46; Mrs. Mary Callaway Davis, '49; Mrs. Della Nichols Forecarc, '50. Beautiful were the eulogisms on President Bacon by Mrs. Carrie Greene Todd, and President Cox by Mrs. Alice Fitzgerald Simpson. Others are so worthy of the mention that we can hardly forbear to speak of them, and all were sincere, heartfelt, womanly tributes from those who have illustrated their good training in their several walks in life.

Mothers and daughters sat side by side and grandchildren brought floral tributes to them upon the stage.

May God bless and keep these good and accomplished women for whose presence and influence the world is better, and may heaven be their everlasting home when their journey is done.

Among the touching incidents of the morning was the reading of the 15th Psalm by Dr. Gambrell, from a Bible presented President Milton P. Bacon, by the class of 1849. The precious relic is now the property of his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Cox.

The Faults and Follies of the Age

Are numerous, but of the latter none is more ridiculous than the promiscuous and random use of laxative pills and other drastic cathartics. These wrench, convulse and weaken both the stomach and bowels. If Hostetter's Stomach Bitters be used instead of these no-remedies, the result is accomplished without pain and with great benefit to the bowels, the stomach and the liver. Use this remedy when constipation manifests itself, and thereby prevent it from becoming chronic.

THE LYBREND CASE

Was the Cause of Some Agitation in Judge Clark's Court.

"WHO'S DODGING?" ASKED MR. CUMMINGS

"The Railroad, Through Its Attorneys," Was Mr. Westmoreland's Reply—Receiver for Turner Goldsmith.

The case of Lybrend against the Georgia railroad occupied the attention of Judge Marshall Clarke and will be continued this morning.

The only thing to break the monotony of the suit yesterday was the speech of Mr. George Westmoreland, which incurred, in a certain portion, the displeasure of the counsel for the road.

Mr. Westmoreland was speaking in reference to the new trial and in regard to upon what grounds it had been obtained. He stated that the entry signed by the judge showed that the motion for a new trial was granted in accordance with the prayer of the defense. He made the assertion that the attorneys for the railroad had attempted throughout the showing of their side to represent that the new trial had been granted on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

"So, gentlemen," said Mr. Westmoreland, "they are up to their old trick of dodging.

At this Major J. B. Cummings, of Augusta, who was present as attorney for the road, arose to his feet and addressed himself to Mr. Westmoreland.

"Who do you mean is dodging?" asked the major, looking at Mr. Westmoreland, and leaning forward to catch the answer.

"The defendant is dodging," was the reply of Mr. Westmoreland, who turned to continue his speech, but Major Cummings was not ready to drop the issue.

"Who do you mean by the defendant?" inquired Major Cummings.

"By the defendant," replied Mr. Westmoreland, "I mean the defendant."

"Do you mean the railroad?" demanded the major, speaking in a rather angry tone of voice.

"Yes," was the retort of Mr. Westmoreland; "through its attorneys."

Finally Mr. Westmoreland informed Major Cummings that he had no reference to him at all, but that he was referring to Judge Hillyer alone. At this Judge Hillyer, who is associated with Major Cummings in the Lybrend case, got up from his chair, and leaning forward with his hands upon the table that separated him from Mr. Westmoreland, said:

"If the gentleman says that I have done any intentional dodging he states what is not true."

"I do not mean to say," amended Mr. Westmoreland, "that my brother did any intentional dodging."

Peace, on white wings, appeared to be hovering over the courtroom when Mr. Westmoreland uttered this last sentence, but when he continued his speech he caused another tiff.

"It seems," continued Mr. Westmoreland to the jury, referring to the little unpleasantness, "that not only my client is in hot water, but his lawyers are in the same fix. The defense wants us to swear to suit them and to argue to suit them, and—"

"Your honor," interrupted Major Cummings, "I think that this is carrying the matter too far. I thought that it had been dropped."

Mr. Westmoreland then asked to be allowed to make his argument without any further interruption, and Major Cummings stated that there would be an interruption whenever the misstatement of facts warranted it.

"There is a place to settle all this," was Mr. Westmoreland's answer.

"Yes," replied Major Cummings, "the place to settle it is where it occurs, and at the time."

"Gentlemen," cautioned Judge Clarke, "this matter will extend into a personal controversy if you are not careful."

Just before the spat over the "dodging" Mr. Westmoreland took occasion to remark upon the manner in which Judge Hillyer had scored Mr. Brooker, and said that if the judge would only go to South Carolina he would not receive such treatment.

Court adjourned at 2 o'clock until this morning, when Mr. Westmoreland will conclude his argument for Lybrend. When Judge Clarke adjourned all parties were in a good humor.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

The business of Mr. Turner Goldsmith, haberdasher, was put into the hands of a receiver yesterday morning. A bill asking that a receiver be appointed was filed with Judge Marshall Clarke. The attorneys for the creditors were Messrs. Walter Brown and C. Z. Blalock. The assets are about $10,000 and the liabilities are possibly a sum not exceeding that amount.

Mr. James Allensworth was appointed receiver, and will very probably begin the sale of the goods at once.

The case of J. P. Winn, suing for $10,000 for damages on a railroad train, went to the jury yesterday afternoon and a sealed verdict will be returned.

A Long Face

—very good cause for it. She does her washing and cleaning without Pearline; and her work is like her face—just twice as long as it ought to be. That's not the worst of it, her work isn't as well done.

Tires her out, and hurts whatever she washes with the rub, rub, rub that wears and tears. Pretty hard, isn't it? Millions of women think so. They prefer to save time, labor, clothes, and money by washing with Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 321 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

DR. H. SANCHE'S

OXYDONOR "VICTORY."

OXYGEN BY ABSORPTION.

A Cure for all diseases without the aid of Medicine

Dr. H. Sanche, the eminent scientist, is the discoverer of the method of spontaneous cure, and the inventor of all things pertaining thereto.

ALL CLAIMED FOR IT.

Colonel W. A. Lofton, a prominent member of the Macon bar, and ex-member of the legislature, writes under date of June 7, 1893, as follows:

Gentlemen: I cheerfully furnish the following statement of the beneficial effects of the Oxydonor "Victory" in my family. Having previously witnessed some of its results, I used it, or applied to you to do so, in a case of la grippe, and subsequently in a severe bilious attack, accompanied with manifest symptoms of dysentery, and in both instances the disease was arrested in a few hours, and the patient cured in a few days, by the application of this wonderful instrument under your direction, and without any other treatment. I do not understand the rationale by which disease is thus cured by it, but my observation satisfies me, strange as it seems, that the Oxydonor "Victory" is all that you claim for it. Very respectfully yours, W. A. LOFTON.

Be not deceived or humbugged into buying a worthless imitation. See that "Dr. Sanche's" name is stamped on the instrument before buying. BECK & BACON,
